Boys Win Fight to Bathe in Crystal Lake

Just as the boy coasters on Boston Common won their point with the British Red Coats back in Revolutionary days, the boys in Newton Centre and Newton Highlands today won their fight for unhampered bathing in Crystal lake.

Fashionable property owners objected. The bathing agitation has been a neighborhood problem for years. First, the old bathing pavilion was abolished, but the boys found the bushes a sufficient screen until unsympathetic property owners had the bushes shopped down.

A boy who defied developments and bathed in the role of "September Morn" das arrested because of lack of foliage where the protecting bushes used to be. Parents of poor boys claimed their sons had a right to bathe in the lake. The police investigated and ruled that as Lake Crystal is within a state reservation bathing could not be prohibited.

It seemed to come down to a matter of bathing suits, when Mayor Childs came to the rescue of the sweltering youngsters by announcing that a tent will be provided without delay.

Find 'Lost' Woman Waist-Deep In River

Mrs. Dirk Verbeck of Braintree, whose disappearance from home in the night was reported to the police early today, was found by her husband at 11 o'clock, standing waist-deep in a branch of the Fore River at East Braintree, about one mile from home. She was in her night dress. She had suffered from exposure and water-chill. She seemed in a daze. As soon as she was returned home at No. 47 Hillcrest street, a doctor was secured. Her condition was reported as serious. Since the birth of her baby, nine months ago, Mrs. Verbeck has been in ill health, aggravated by the hot weather. Two searching parties were out, one led by the husband.

FOUR SOLDIERS HURT AS AUTO HITS TREE

One Seriously Injured in Mishap at Camp Devens; Inquiry Ordered

Camp Devens, June 26.—Four noncommissioned officers were injured, one probably fatally, when their automobile crashed into a tree on the main road near the entrance of the cantonment today.

The injured:

Corporal Rene Ricklin of New York, 325th Motor Train (driver of the car); broken ribs and probable internal injuries.

Corporal Robert Grace of Holyoke, Supply Depot, Depot Brigade; cut and bruised and probable internal injuries.

Sergeant Timothy Sullivan of Ware, Supply Depot; cut and bruised, probable internal injuries.

Sergeant Arthur Paquette of Malden, Supply Depot; broken leg.

It was reported that several other persons were in the automobile and escaped injury. An official military investigation was ordered.

The car was broken in two by the impact and the tree was torn down. The injured were taken to the base hospital.

4 INJURED IN SALEM FIRE

Three firemen and another man were injured today in a general alarm fire which started in the rear of the G. A. R. Hall on St. Peter street, Salem. They are:

Richard Hart, hoseman, Engine 5.
Joseph St. Pierre, hoseman, Engine 5.
Thomas Brennan, hoseman, Engine 5.

All received bruises about the body when the roof of the building fell in.

Joseph H. O'Connor, receiving clerk for Isaac A. Donohue, clothier, received burns about the arms.

The fire quickly spread to Murray Brothers' carriage and horse stables, both of which were destroyed.

Later the Salem Dye House caught fire. The flames menaced the Essex Hotel, Donahue's clothing store and the Almy Bigelow Building, but were extinguished before touching these buildings on Essex street.

Yesterday was the fifth anniversary of the big Salem fire, and today's general alarm was the second since that destructive conflagration.

Firemen Hart, St. Pierre and Brennan were assisting Captain Joseph Flynn in fighting the fire when the roof of the building fell in and the men received injuries around their heads and shoulders. Captain Flynn escaped unhurt.

O'Connor was one of the first persons to reach the fire and was endeavoring to fight the flames with a fire extinguisher when he was burned.

Fined for Resenting Beating of Rugs Over Her Wash

Has a woman who lives upstairs the right to beat her rugs at a time when the washing of the family downstairs is hanging out and right in the path of the rug dust?

Mrs. Bessie Gordan, who lives downstairs in the house at No. 56 Westville street, Dorchester, thinks not. It developed today when she was found guilty in the Dorchester Court of damaging personal property belonging to Mrs. Frances Freidman, formerly of the same address.

Mrs. Freidman alleged that Mrs. Gordan had slashed a $75 parlor rug to bits after she had beaten it over the protest of Mrs. Gordan that the Gordan washing was out.

Mrs. Gordan was fined $50. She appealed.

WHITTEMORE IS SENTENCED FOR CONSPIRACY

Given Six Months for His Part in $13,000 Hold-up by Everett Bandits

Charles S. Whittemore, sixty years old, for many years a respected resident of Malden and former auditor of the Everett branch of the General Electric Company, was sentenced to six months in the House of correction today after pleading guilty to conspiracy in the Everett hold up of December 23.

On that date Paymaster Frank H. Brown of the electric branch was held up by bandits, was seriously wounded and was robbed of $13,000. The auditor, as he later confessed, rode to the neighborhood of the holdup in an automobile, then watched proceedings from a drug store window.

His confession helped the government in rounding up and prosecuting those on the case. He has been in jail since February 4. He is in poor health, having been in the jail hospital several weeks. His wife recently suffered a shock. Hence his light sentence.

TUDOR TEA

PARIS MAY DEMAND HIS SURRENDER

The Crown Prince Frederick William, arch-exponent of German militarism, is reported in Paris dispatches to have escaped from Holland to Germany, accompanied by his staff officers.

It is suspected in peace conference circles that the Crown Prince plans a dramatic coup by which he hopes to overthrow the republic, restore the monarchy, sound the call to arms and defy the allies, counting upon the partial demobilization of the entente armies to enable him to make effective resistance.

Though it is possible the Crown Prince fled only in a desperate effort to avoid trial by an international tribunal, some strength is lent the rumor of a military coup by an Amsterdam dispatch. This dispatch reports that the German eastern army corps, including troops from the regions it is proposed to hand over to Poland, has decided to oppose the carrying out of the treaty provisions and that General von Luttwitz is attempting to form a new German cabinet.

The allies are expected to demand the arrest and surrender for trial of the Crown Prince as soon as verification of the report reaches the peace conference. They already have sent a sharp note to Germany notifying her that she will be held strictly responsible if Germany's armed forces prevent the Poles from occupying territory assigned to them by the treaty of peace.

The note was dispatched following the seizure of an official German dispatch, indicating that the German government planned to give chase to which several shots were fired. He is alleged to have stolen the automobile of Stephen W. Dennick of Cambridge. It is charged he sold the car to a man in Watertown, representing it to be his own. The Watertown police have spoken for the next chance at White on a charge of obtaining money on false pretenses.

CAMBRIDGE POLICE GET ALLEGED AUTO THIEF

So that the Cambridge police could arrest him for alleged larceny, the case of Herbert S. White, twenty-one, of New York city, charged with the unlawful possession of an automobile, was not pressed in Somerville Police Court today. White was arrested in Somerville following a chase in which several shots were fired. He is alleged to have stolen the automobile of Stephen W. Dennick of Cambridge. It is charged he sold the car to a man in Watertown, representing it to be his own. The Watertown police have spoken for the next chance at White on a charge of obtaining money on false pretenses.

"L" STRUCTURE FIRE TIES UP TRAINS AND CARS

A blaze that started in the Elevated structure at Kelston Square at 3:43 today developed only a small fire but one that fused one of the service cables. This made it necessary to shut off the power until 10:38. Elevated service south of Boylston street tunnel station was tied up; also surface car service into Dudley street station, causing much unavoidable inconvenience to the public.

OPEN LETTER TO THE PEOPLE

FROM

SIMON SWIG, VICE-PRESIDENT TREMONT TRUST CO.

DEAR FRIENDS:

It has been a merry old fight for justice. I have been threatened, insulted, and cajoled, but throughout it all I have insisted upon the right of the people to be paid interest on savings deposits monthly, and upon their right to withdraw their savings practically without the loss of interest.

Yes, it has been a merry fight. When I made my last report to you, the bill to repeal the law that was going to take millions from the people was referred to the Joint Committee on Banks and Banking after it had been admitted by the House and the Senate Committees on Rules.

The Joint Committee on Banks and Banking held a public hearing. Under the leadership of Judge Louis Swig, those of us who believe in the rights of the people, riddled the arguments of the bankers and made clear that there was but one issue—the right of the people to be paid interest monthly on their savings deposits and the right to withdraw their deposits at any time with practically no loss of interest. The bankers were there strong, including representatives of trust companies, which advertise that they place savings deposits on interest monthly. They opposed the repeal of the law, for they do not want to pay interest monthly, and tried to camouflage the issue. At first the opponents were cocky and unrelenting, but in the end groggy and compromising.

Ah, but it was some hearing; replete with thrilling, humorous and dramatic moments. When the rumblings and the heat of the arguments and oratory had passed, the cause of the people stood victorious, for the Committee on Banks and Banking, to its credit, by an unanimous report, recommended that savings departments in trust companies may pay interest monthly from income earned and collected.

But the fight is not over. There is a long road yet to travel. The repeal bill may be ditched by a parliamentary monkey-wrench, or by a legislative joker. The only safe way is to have the referendum petitions ready. If the legislature passe the act, well and good; but if it does not pass it, the people should be all ready to repeal the law themselves. The referendum petitions are our reserve guns. They must be loaded with the proper ammunition in the shape of 15,000 signatures. We need at once a few more thousand names, for the time for filing petitions with the Secretary of State is almost up.

Let us go over the top. Sign and circulate the petitions, and send them at once to me at the Tremont Trust Co., 14 State St., Boston. There is no time to lose.

Watch for my final statement within a few weeks. It will be interesting, you may be assured.

Yours truly,

SIMON SWIG,
Vice-President Tremont Trust Co.

FORMER CROWN PRINCE ESCAPES FROM HOLLAND INTO GERMANY

SUSPECT PLOT TO RESTORE HOHENZOLLERN DYNASTY

secret support to military forces opposed to Poland in the east. Another note warned the Germans that further acts violating the armistice and peace terms, such as the scuttling of the German ships, will have an "unfortunate effect" on the operations of the treaty.

A Berlin dispatch to the International News Service reports rumors that government divisions in Berlin may quit their posts and dissolve, following the resignation of Field Marshal von Hindenburg, leaving the city to the mercy of the Spartacists, who have seized large quantities of arms and munitions.

The German ministry, headed by Herr Bauer, is not expected to survive long after the signing of the treaty, but there was no confirmation today of peace conference rumors yesterday that it had already been overthrown.

THE BIG THREE WAS NOTIFIED this morning that a German peace delegation, including Hermann Mueller, foreign minister, Herr Giesberts and Herr Leinert, will arrive in Versailles Saturday morning to sign the treaty. It is possible that the ceremony may take place on Sunday afternoon.

Peace Council Stirred by Prince's Escape

By International News Service.

Paris, June 26.—Peace conference circles are materially concerned over a report that the former German Crown Prince, Frederick William Hohenzollern, has escaped from Holland and returned to Germany.

The report of the Crown Prince's escape has also reached army intelligence sources here. Though the news is not yet official, it is generally accepted as true.

The report occasioned no surprise here, in view of the resolutions adopted by the German Officers' Association, declaring that they would protect the ex-Kaiser, the Prince and Ludendorff from trial by the allies.

WILL DEMAND SURRENDER.

If the news is confirmed, it is accepted here that the allies will make an immediate demand upon the new German government for the surrender of the Crown Prince as a matter of principle, regardless of whether he is brought to trial or not.

It was conceded that the receipt of such a demand by the new government would immediately precipitate a crisis in Germany, with the military party threatening revolution if the government acceded to the allies' request.

It is believed possible here that the Crown Prince's reported escape is part of a dramatic coup by which the reactionary party in Germany hopes to overthrow the republic and restore the monarchy by force of arms.

FEARED TRIAL.

Several reports have reached the peace conference, since Germany announced acceptance of the treaty, that German military leaders of the old monarchistic regime have threatened revolt if the government accepted the treaty. They were particularly opposed to the clause providing for the surrender for trial of the ex-Kaiser and others held responsible for the war.

It was considered certain that the Crown Prince, the leader of the militarist party, would be among those sought for trial by the Allies, and it is believed that he fled to Germany, hoping to escape falling into the hands of the Entente.

The Crown Prince had, since his abdication on Dec. 1, 1918, been interned on the tiny island of Wieringen, off the north coast of Holland.

While considered under "internment" by the Dutch authorities, the heir of the Hohenzollerns has been allowed great freedom of movements. It is known that he has been kept constantly informed of the state of affairs in Germany through friendly couriers. Visitors have constantly come and gone from the cottage in which he made his home.

* London, June 26.—Several German staff officers accompanied the former German Crown Prince in his escape from Holland to Germany, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Paris this afternoon.

4 U. S. Soldiers Slain and Two Wounded by Bolsheviki

Washington, June 26.—Four members of the 31st Infantry were killed and two wounded, when attacked on their way to rescue five American soldiers who had been captured by Bolsheviki near Siachan Mine, Major-General William S. Graves, commanding the A. E. F. in Siberia, advised the War Department today.

GERMAN TREATY SIGNERS READY AT LAST

Mueller, Leinert and Geisberts Start for Paris; May End War Sunday

By JOHN EDWIN NEVIN,
Correspondents of the International News Service.

Paris, June 26.—Secretary Hanson Haimhausen of the German peace mission at Versailles today notified the Big Three that the new German peace delegation which will sign the treaty will be made up of Hermann Mueller, minister of foreign affairs; Herr Leinert and Johann Giesberts, minister of posts and telegraphs.

Giesberts has reached Versailles and the other two members are about to leave Berlin. They will arrive here Saturday morning and unless President Wilson discovers an objection it appears likely that the peace treaty may be signed on Sunday.

Announcement of the personnel of the new German delegation was conveyed to the Big Three this morning by Paul Dutasta, secretary of the peace conference. The Big Three immediately sent word to Berlin that official greetings would be exchanged between the two governments.

It is known that he has been kept constantly informed of the state of affairs in Germany through friendly couriers. Visitors have constantly come and gone from the cottage in which he made his home.

'Close-Up' Study of Ex-Crown Prince by Bert Ford

By BERT FORD.

The Crown Prince seemed more popular than his dad, the Kaiser, while I was in Germany with the American Army of Occupation for three months.

At least that was the sentiment in the Rhineland, and the credit often ascribed for the difference was that the Crown Prince had stood his ground longer.

Kaiser Wilhelm's precipate flight to Holland was received with general disfavor. It was openly criticised as an exit weak and cowardly for a man who had posed as, and who had vainly tried to be, the military dictator of the world.

HAD HIS OWN IDEAS.

The common folk, laborers, shop keepers and discharged soldiers, the people in the shaped public opinion, thought their emperor would have made a much better impression on the world and an historical tableau would be filling his stern father. If he had faced the music in Berlin, even if it meant swift assassination, instead of flying like a criminal.

But Bill had his own ideas on that score. His aim was to get on to much less of a hurry and, from all reports, showed less concern for his personal safety, in the flight made a life.

However, the Kaiser had his supporters even among the people of the Rhine provinces who seemed anxious for a Republic or any form of government that would end military autocracy and insure peace.

"Even those who had tired of a monarchy and who longed for a democratic form of government, wanted their Kaiser protected. They wanted to be assured that nothing would harm him, even if he never could hope to figure in the affairs of the nation again. This devotion was almost universal. It was deep-seated, inherent.

STUBBORN LOYALTY.

While many declared that they were overjoyed to be rid of Kaiserism, they nevertheless exhibited the German stubborn loyalty to the deposed ruler.

From what I gathered in these conversations and from sentiment expressed in the public prints, it appeared that if the Kaiser could be returned to Germany with a guaranty of safety, public opinion might easily be swayed in his favor.

What moral influence the return of the Crown Prince would have is a matter of broad speculation. He has always been regarded as more of a social lion, a prince devoted to sports and the gay, frivolous life than to affairs of state.

"And yet ever so flighty a member of the Hohenzollern family as he might have been, he was not found in any plotted movement for control of the government.

"I was so busy with the American Army of Occupation with which I advanced from the fighting lines, that I never had time to go to Holland to attempt to interview the Kaiser or the Crown Prince, but I received no end of inside information from those who did and through American army channels.

KAISER GIVES HIS CHOICE.

"I heard on the best authority that when the Kaiser fled from Spa to Holland, a dramatic scene took place which would seem to indicate that Bill had sort of a Hohenzollern choice. My informant told me that a train with steam up had been kept standing for days on Spa siding, ready for a hasty get-away should emergency demand.

"On the day of his departure for Holland two high-powered automobiles were throbbing in front of his residence. One faced toward Berlin and the other toward Holland. As it was explained to me, the Kaiser had to decide his course then and there and that if he hadn't fled the country, he would have been hurried to Berlin and surrendered to his fate in that turbulent city.

"The Kaiser glanced from one to the other of the leaders of his councils, saying:

"'But cannot I depend upon my army commanders?'

Hindenburg and Ludendorf are reported to have given no encouragement, not even so much as the friendly gleam of an eye, and then in despair the Kaiser decided to escape to Holland.

Strange stories came out of Spa from time to time, about his woodsawing stunts and how he used to dig miniature trenches and fill them with water and toss pebbles over his head. Officials of Spa were quoted in connection with these tales.

The most vivid glimpse of the Crown Prince during his seclusion in Holland was furnished me by John T. Parkerson, who, as correspondent for the International News Service, interviewed the young dandy in his cloister.

GIANT SOLDIER ON GUARD.

The story is best told in Parkerson's words. Said Parkerson:

"I had just married a Belgian girl whom I met when the British army entered Brussels. We had a long dreary ride to the little island where the exiled William Hohenzollern, formerly Crown Prince of Germany, was lodging.

"After nearly freezing to death in the little ferry, and later in a sleigh, we reached a very ordinary looking house. A giant German soldier was on guard. He would not admit me. Glancing up I saw the Crown Prince himself, looking into a little mirror nailed up near the window. He was putting on a swell four-in-hand tie. He is some fashion plate, is William Jr.

"He happened to glance down, and seeing my wife, who is very young and pretty, he called a guard and ordered that we be admitted to the house at once. He told me when he greeted us in a living room a minute later that he thought it was too bad for so pretty a girl to shiver on the way in a sleigh.

"That is what snared him, just as I thought it would. If I hadn't had my bride along I never would have got into that house. He has a weakness for girls with pretty faces. He welcomed us with a royal fervor and grace, as if we were old friends of his. I began to feel like a member of the Kaiser's court, until I discovered that he was trying openly to flirt with my wife.

"GLANCES DON'T HURT."

"My first impulse was to round him up. I felt like taking a wallop at his jaw, but I calmed myself, willing to stand for his offensive glances if I could get a respectable invitation. Glances don't hurt anyway. It would have been different if he had become disorderly in his language.

"He gave me the impression very strongly that his most poignant regret was that there was a war, and because it had cut off his social activities and separated him from his favorite pastime, the art of admission. He said when the war broke out he was at a grand ball and had to leave it to attend a solemn council and he thought it annoying to have his pleasure interrupted.

"He seems to think much thought to women. He was surprised to hear that Cornelius Vanderbilt had been made a brigadier-general. He added, Why, I know Connie very well. Wonder how he likes the Army?

"The Prince gave me quite a talk. We were there more than an hour. He was very entertaining and hospitable. The visit would have been perfect if he hadn't tried to flirt so openly with Mrs. Parkerson, who behaved like a true diplomat, telling me later that she was willing to take his little sly glances in order to make my interview successful.

"The Prince frankly admitted that they had feared two things more than any other elements—English propaganda and the American army. He said official Germany realized that victory was out of the question when America entered the war."

BRITISH TO LIFT SHOE AND LEATHER EMBARGOES

It was stated in Boston yesterday that since peace is assured it is practically certain that the embargo on boots, shoes and sole leather will be lifted by the British government by the end of the month. American exports of boots and shoes have been restricted to 25 per cent. of the amount shipped to Great Britain in 1913.

Consul-General Skinner has cabled the department from London that several licenses have been issued for importation of upper leather and fibre faszeed for sewing.

BANQUET CHELSEA HERO OF THE WAR

Benjamin Yahovitz, nineteen years old, and generally acknowledged as Chelsea's greatest hero of the war, was tendered a testimonial banquet in the Boston City Club by about 700 prominent citizens of Chelsea, arranged by the Young Men's Social Club, of which the former soldier is a member.

Yahovitz, a private in the 101st Regiment, was attacked by fourteen Germans. He received two bayonet wounds and dispatched three Huns and captured eleven more.

BOARD DELAYS LOCATING ARLINGTON HONOR ROLE

Because it will require several months to prepare a complete and accurate list of names of the service men for the roll of honor tablets of the town of Arlington, the Planning Board proposes to postpone final action upon the location of the honor roll. The question of location will have considerable bearing on the design. Much opposition has been met in the proposed location of the roll on the lawn in front of the Robbins Memorial Town Hall, in view of the fact that it will shut off the view of the park.

ALLEGED LEADER OF GANG IS FINED $400

Murphy on a Somerville car a month ago, was fined $400 in Somerville Court today. He appealed. Nicholas Nasropiles, fifty-five, of Somerville avenue, who was originally charged with the responsibility for the disturbance, was exonerated and discharged.

GERMANS GIVEN STERN WARNING BY ENTENTE

Must Make Reparation for Scuttling of Ships and Burning of Flags

By International News Service.

Paris, June 26.—A sharp note of warning that a repetition of such violations of the armistice terms as the scuttling of the German fleet and the burning of the French flags in Berlin "must have a very unfortunate effect upon the future operation of the peace treaty" has been dispatched by the allies to the German government, it was officially announced today.

The allied serve notice that they will demand reparation for these acts and will brink responsible parties to trial before military tribunals.

The allied note, which was signed by Premier Clemenceau, as president of the peace conference, recalled that Germany was complaining of the treaty provisions for a fifteen-year period of allied military occupation and because her admission to the League of Nations is deferred, and inquired why the allied military occupation again the full exercise of allied powers, when she deliberately violated the armistice engagements.

Furthermore, the allies intimated their intention of making use of the power guaranteed them under Article 429 of the peace treaty, providing for a prolongation of the period of military occupation, if Germany corrials in violation of her agreements.

BREACH OF ARMISTICE.

The note sent by the allies last night recalled the fact that under the terms of the armistice the German ships were interned with German care and maintenance parties aboard. The contention of the German admiral, Von Reuter, that the sinking of the ships at Scapa Flow was not a violation of the armistice because he believed the armistice expired on June 21, was rejected. The allies pointing out that the armistice only terminated on January 10. Von Reuter, and the High School of Practical Arts, where eighty-one girls will be graduated.

The destruction of the ships is therefore characterized as an act of "gross bad faith" as well as a breach of the armistice, and the perpetrators, under international law, become liable to trial by military tribunals. After announcing their right to demand reparation, the allies declare:

"The sinking of the German fleet is not only a violation of the armistice, but can only be regarded by the allied and associated powers as a deliberate breach in advance of the conditions of peace communicated to Germany, and now accepted by her. Furthermore, the incident is not an isolated one. The burning or permission for the burning of the French flags which Germany was to restore constitutes another deliberate breach in advance of these same conditions.

ACTS OF BAD FAITH.

"In consequence, the allied and associated powers declare that they take note of these signal acts of bad faith and that when the investigations have been completed into all the circumstances they will exact the necessary reparation.

It is evident that any repetition of acts like these must have a very unfortunate effect upon the future operations of the peace treaty, which the Germans are about to sign.

They have made complaint of the extension of the period of occupation which the treaty contemplates. They have made complaint that admission to the League of Nations may be too long deferred. How can Germany put forward such claims if she encourages or permits deliberate violations of her written engagements?"

The armistice also provides that the allies use the full powers conferred on them by the treaty, particularly Article 428, if able, on the ground they deliberately violates its provisions."

Hindenburg Quits as German Army Chief; Red Menace Grows in Berlin

By ALFRED G. ANDERSEN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Berlin, June 26.—Rumors spread throughout Berlin early today that several volunteer divisions, which have been protecting the city against communistic disorders, have resolved to dissolve and abandon Berlin to the Spartacans, who have been participating in the rioting going on for the last forty-eight hours.

Their leaders decided upon this action, it was reported, following the resignation of Field Marshal von Hindenburg from the chief command of the army. The war ministry is attempting to prevent the disaffection from spreading to other units in the army.

London, June 26.—Berlin is a great armed camp with the tension between the communists and the reactionaries so great that a single shot may bring bloody civil war said a Central News dispatch from Berlin today.

A Reuter dispatch from Berlin reported that snipers were posted to pick out the night from the roofs of houses and other buildings all over the city.

Troops were called to clear the Thiergarten parks of enormous crowds of rioters. Hands of looters held up the street cars. There were frequent clashes between the troops and the crowds of looters.

The Communist Soldiers' Councils have distributed large quantities of arms and ammunition to soldier members and their civilian adherents. The government's position is growing more serious, and some troops are deserting. The ministry of marine has been converted into a fortress, and the surrounding streets are barricaded. Government soldiers have occupied the newspaper offices.

As a result of the general strike the most important lines are tied up and the stations barricaded.

It is reported that General Luettits is attempting to form a new government with military support.

Exclusive dispatches to the International News Service from Berlin correspondent early yesterday brought first word of the outbreak of rioting in Berlin.

Allies Hold Germany "Strictly Responsible" for Activity Against Poles

By International News Service.

Paris, June 26.—The allies will hold the Germans "strictly responsible" for any disturbance in Eastern Germany directed against the Poles. The text of a new allied note to Germany, dispatched last night, was made public today. The note reads:

"The allied and associated powers feel it necessary to direct the attention of the German government to the fact that the Polish authorities have come into possession of the attached official German dispatch which states that Count Von Lerchenfeld government means to sign the peace, they intend to give unofficial support by all means in their power to local movements of resistance to the establishment of Polish authority in the territories allotted to Poland in Posen and in East and West Prussia and to the occupation of Silesia by the allied and associated powers.

"In view of this information, the allied and associated powers think it necessary to inform the German government that they will hold them strictly responsible for seeing that at the time indicated in the treaty all troops and all officials mobilized by the allied commissioners be withdrawn, and that in the event of local disturbances in resistance to the treaty no support or assistance to the insurgents is allowed to pass across the new frontier of Poland."

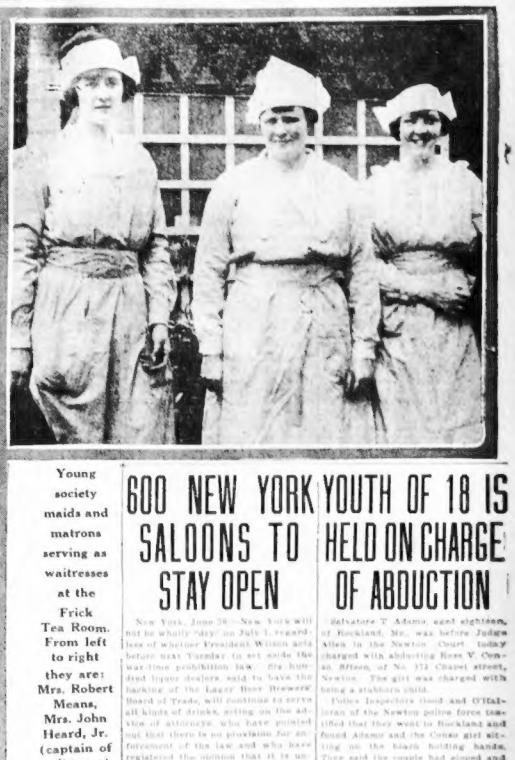
NO NEED OF GOING DRY! "CANARY PUNCH" IS A REAL THIRST QUENCHER AT HELEN FRICK'S NEW TEA ROOM!



Hat shop in connection with the Tea Room on the Frick estate at Wenham. The picture shows Mrs. George W. Simpson selling a hat to Mrs. H. C. Richards of New York. The hats were made by young society girls.

This is the first posed picture of Miss Helen Clay Frick ever printed in a newspaper. She and a group of girl friends are running a tea room on her father's estate in aid of the starving children of the Jugo-Slavs. Photo by "Gus."

NAVAL ENSIGN ELOPES WITH VIRGINIA HEIRESS

The elopement and marriage at Rye, N. H., of Miss Mary Hite, seventeen-year-old daughter of William F. Hite, a West Virginia banker and coal operator, and Ensign Warren E. Jones, U. S. N., a Portsmouth youth just graduated from Annapolis, became known today.

The Hites have a luxurious Summer place at Newcastle, near Portsmouth. They come up about this time every year from their West Virginia home. The bride's father is rated at about $2,000,000, according to Portsmouth gossip. He owns coal mines and a bank "everything."

Ensign Jones comes from a prominent New Hampshire family that formerly lived in Franklin and three years ago moved to Portsmouth.

Jones' father is Dr. Seth W. Jones, Collector of Internal Revenue for the district of New Hampshire, Maine and Vermont. He is one of the leading Democrats north of Boston and, by virtue of his office as collector, is known all over the three States in his district.

Four years ago Warren E. Jones was appointed to Annapolis. He was graduated this month with the usual rank of ensign. He was given thirty days' leave, which expires on July 12. On that date he is to report aboard the U. S. S. Minnesota at Newport News. The Minnesota sails to France to bring back more American soldiers.

With the promptness that marks naval men in matters of war or romance, either, Ensign Jones went from Annapolis into matrimony with little loss of time.

Why the elopement method was chosen is yet to be explained, unless parental opposition was feared on the ground of youth. Under the New Hampshire law any girl sixteen years or over may wed without her parents' consent, so they did not have to get consent, one way or another.

The ensign and his sweetheart-heiress were quietly into Rye, next town to Newcastle, yesterday and were married by the Rev. James Kemp of the Congregational Church. Then they went to the Jones home on South street in Portsmouth to "break up."

Dr. Jones admitted the marriage fact today, but would not discuss the romance itself. He said the wedding was "a quiet affair."

'15-CENT JAGS' DESCRIBED BY PELLETIER

With the near approach of national prohibition the "15-cent Jag" has made its appearance. It is produced by a mixture of wood alcohol and milk and has got everything beaten from hard cider down. It has nearly killed forty men in Boston during the last two months.

District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier of Suffolk County told all about it today when he appeared before the Legislative Committee on Legal Affairs in support of his bill to place all dealers in wood alcohol, denatured alcohol and methyl-alcohol under police license with power of revocation if any of these substances are sold for drinking purposes.

"In the past two months," said the district attorney to the committee, "forty men have been taken to Boston City Hospital nearly dead from drinking punch made from wood alcohol and milk. I hope you will pass this bill, and prevent these fifteen-cent jags. For fifteen cents enough wood alcohol can be obtained to furnish a paralyzing drunk for four men.

He added that the police are powerless to prevent such sales without additional legislation.

Medical Examiner Timothy Leary, Dr. J. A. Foley of Boston City Hospital and Captain Driscoll of Police Station No. 5, spoke in favor of the bill. There was no opposition.

With the opening of Canary Cottage, tea room, by Miss Helen Clay Frick on the Frick estate at Wenham, a new "soft drink" leaped into immediate popularity. It is called "Canary punch," and is the invention of the group of young society maids and matrons who are running the tea room in aid of starving children of the Jugo-Slavs. Opening to a gathering of patrons and patronesses from the North Shore, the tea room was in full swing today as a charity hostelry for motorists and the resident smart set.

"Canary punch" made its debut Hitherto unknown and unsung, today it suddenly found itself celebrated. The recipe? Oh, that is a secret. Tinkling in an iced glass, it gives out many delectable flavors, but their sources are carefully guarded by the proprietors of Canary Cottage. It is a "specialty of the house."

Miss Frick, who is vice-chairman of the tea room committee, was in general charge of the opening. Mrs. John Heard, Jr., was captain of waitresses. Those who patronized the place are served by young women of the wealthy social colony, who volunteer their services. Dressed attractively in white and yellow, they flitted into the background of white and green, in which the cottage is finished. Window boxes and delicate hangings within, a Jane landscape outside, brought forth expressions of delight from the guests.

Assisting Mrs. Heard were Miss Marjorie Thomas and Mrs. Robert Means, who served as waitresses. A hat shop, run in conjunction with the tea room, was in charge of Mrs. George W. Simpson. Here the smartest headgear of the season was displayed to tempt the passerby, all the hats being contributed by members of the Summer colony who are interested in the benevolent purpose of the committee.

The guests at the opening included Mrs. William McCormick, Mrs. Lyoda Cochrane, Mrs. Harold B. Coolidge, Mrs. Richard Sears, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Ayer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Washington B. Thomas, Mrs. Isaac Thomas, Mrs. Hiram Folsom, Mrs. John B. Mellinley, Mrs. Thomas Metcalfe and Mrs. George Ehbert.

"A tremendous success," said Miss Frick of the first day's effort. "We want everyone to come and patronize our tea rooms. We want them to come as often as they can, to give parties here and hire the whole place for dances, teas, luncheons and bridge parties. We are going to specialize on our food, and what we have is going to be exceptionally good."

The entire proceeds will go toward the relief of the Jugo-Slavs, to be distributed through the American Jugo-Slav relief committee, No. 511 Fifth avenue, New York. Mrs. H. H. Harriman, wife of that committee, is honorary chairman of the Canary Cottage tea room committee. Miss Frick, vice-chairman; Mrs. Thomas Dwight, treasurer, and Mrs. Albert C. Burrage, Jr., secretary.

Mrs. Marshall Fabyan and Mrs. Augustus P. Loring, Jr., constitute the catering committee. Other members of the tea room committee include Mrs. George Burroughs, Mrs. H. P. Hosmer, Mrs. Herbert W. Mason, Miss Alice Thorndike, Mrs. Walter Potts, Jr., and Mrs. E. Lawrence White.

QUINCY MOTHER SAVES CHILD FROM WATER

Willie Mowbray, a Quincy child, was saved from drowning today by his mother, then was resuscitated on shore by Rev. Harry C. Hurd, former chaplain of the 33d Engineers.

Willie is the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Mowbray. They live at No. 30 Bay View street, Quincy Point. Their house is within 100 yards of Town River.

At low tide Willie and another little boy managed to get across the mud flat to a rock that appeared for only five feet from shore. They played for while the tide rose to its flood. Then Willie fell out of the boat.

Children on shore screamed. Mrs. Mowbray heard, ran out to the shore and kept straight on.

She waded through the running tide-water and with the mud giving only treacherous footing until she was up to her mouth in water. The baby was just within reach. The mother made a desperate result and grabbed Willie's clothing. Instead of turning and to flounder back to shore, the lady commenced to beat across.

Pastor Hurd of the Quincy Point Community Church ran to meet her at the bank. As he helped her out Mrs. Mowbray fell exhausted to the ground.

600 NEW YORK SALOONS TO STAY OPEN

New York, June 26.—New York will not be wholly "dry" on July 1, regardless of whether President Wilson acts before that Tuesday to set aside the war-time prohibition law. Six hundred liquor dealers said to have the backing of the Lager Beer Brewers' Board of Trade, will continue to serve all kinds of drinks, acting on the advice of attorneys, who have pointed out that there is no provision for enforcement of the law and who have registered the opinion that it is unconstitutional. They expect to have a test case rushed to court.

William H. Hirst, counsel for the New York Society of Restaurateurs, today advised hotel keepers to continue dispensing drinks, but to confine their sales to light wines and beers, in conformity with President Wilson's recommendation to Congress, in order not to appear to be defying the law. He also plans to have a test case brought into court and then obtain the suspension of the law by injunction, pending a decision on its constitutionality.

Liquor dealers continued to express belief that the law will be wiped out amid the law before it becomes effective Tuesday, but a steady stream of buyers kept the cash registers busy in the stores.

At Delmonar and Fortunato's stood a fifteen-foot sign announcing bargains in whiskey, wines and other liquors.

A crowd of eager bidders attended the auction sale of the private liquor supply of the late Nat Goodwin, the actor. The sale brought $4,000.

YOUTH OF 18 IS HELD ON CHARGE OF ABDUCTION

Salvatore T. Adamo, aged eighteen, of Rockland, Me., was before Judge Allen in the Newton Court today charged with abducting Rose V. Cowan Affleon, of No. 173 Chapel street, Newton. The girl was charged with being a stubborn child.

Police Inspectors Hood and O'Hallaran of the Newton police force testified that they went to Rockland and found Adamo and the Cowan girl sitting on the beach holding hands. They said the couple had eloped and had filed marriage intentions in Rockland, the girl giving her age as seventeen. They worked at a candy factory in Boston.

The case was continued to permit a conference with the girl's mother. It is possible that they will be married and the charges dropped.

"DRY ZONE" ORDER AT NEWPORT STANDS

Newport, R. I., June 26.—There will be no change in the "dry zone" order for Newport, according to information received from Secretary of the Navy Daniels by Mayor Mahoney. It is the Mayor's contention that the "urgent emergency" mentioned in the order of a year ago last March that made Newport a dry has been removed and on that account the Mayor has been communicating with the Secretary in an effort to have the ban lifted before the first of the month. Although for two loads of liquor are said to be coming over the road from Massachusetts during the week early hours, Newport on the whole has been very dry.

RAILROAD BILL IS OPPOSED BY HINES

Washington, June 26.—The Senate bill to greatly limit the President's power to regulate railroad rates and make the government responsible for the payment of judgments arising prior to Federal control was vigorously opposed by Director-General Hines, when he appeared before the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee.

Judgments obtained against the United States during the period of government control, the Director-General stated, would be paid. They are guaranteed as an obligation of the government and are being paid regularly without question.

FINES FOR TEN TRAFFIC LAW VIOLATORS

Lee, June 25.—Ten men, comprising natives, Summer residents and tourists, paid $120 in fines in Lee court today for violations of the traffic laws. The cases formed one more batch resulting from a determined crusade now being waged along Berkshire highways.

One of the best known defendants was Professor Alfred T. Nason, choir director of the First Congregational Church of Pittsfield. He was charged with using dazzling lights and with endangering life and safety.

Professor Nason pleaded guilty but offered in excuse that he did not stop when officers shouted to him because he thought they might be bandits, planning to hold him up for valuable or friends holding him up for a ride. So he sped right along. He paid the highest fine of the day, $45.

Nine other defendants pleaded guilty to offences and paid fines as follows:

William H. Garland of Dorchester, no license, $10.

Joseph W. Lemarie, leader of orchestra at Hotel Aspinwall, Lenox, wrong number plate and no registration certificate, $30.

Coe W. Morgan, Great Barrington, newsdealer, dazzling lights, $5.

Harry Quinion, East Chatham, N. Y., dazzling lights, $5.

Joseph Dindinger, Great Barrington, on light on motorcycle, $5.

Walter N. Coakley, Lenox newsdealer, dazzling light, $5.

Edward L. Bartlett, Baltimore, Summer resident at Great Barrington, dazzling lights, $5.

T. J. Maloney, New York city, dazzling lights, $5.

Dr. C. W. Stratton, Lee, dazzling lights and no license, $10.

Joseph Rosenfeld, Pittsfield merchant, pleaded guilty to having no registration certificate. Case filed.

Martin T. Love of Stockbridge pleaded not guilty to operating a car without license and while under influence of liquor. His case was continued to July 8.

LAVIGNE MAY RUN FOR WORCESTER MAYORALTY

Worcester, June 26.—Alderman-at-large Narcisse J. Lavigne is expected soon to announce his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Mayor of Worcester. This may mean a primary contest with Mayor Pehr G. Holmes. Holmes and Lavigne have been running mates three times.

STOP SPOONING BY SOLDIERS AT AYER

Camp Devens, Ayer, June 26.—Spooning swains at Whalom Park and Sandy Pond must find some other place to "tell the sweetest story ever told" after Sunday night. Complaints have reached here that soldiers and their sweethearts have been gathering there nightly to the discomfort of natives, and "carry on" in a manner not in keeping with the rules and regulations of such places.

Recently an agent of the Watch and Ward Society visited the "trysting" places of the lovers and made a report to the army authorities, it is asserted, and as the result of the report cases to agents of the Department of Justice, who exercise supervision over the camp. It is hinted that bootleggers frequent these spots, and along with selling applejack get rid of a quantity of intoxicants.

Games of chance and crap shooting are alleged to be carried on there and large sums of money have been lost by soldiers. Last Summer Major-General McCain put a ban on soldiers visiting Whalom Park, and if the authorities in charge cannot properly police the place it may be that a similar command will be promulgated ordering the soldiers not to go there.

"It is true that we have received a report concerning conditions at Whalom Park and Sandy Pond," said an official connected with the camp morale force. Hannibal Hamlin, who has been employed in looking after the morals of the soldiers, is back on the job and will, it is stated, take a hand in further investigations to be made at the park and pond, assisted by members of the provost guard.

The investigation was started by the camp forces today to ascertain the facts in the alleged clubbing of a soldier by a policeman on Main street, Ayer, Wednesday morning, to find out if the force officer was justified in using force to subdue the man.

According to the report of Policeman James Pironi, filed in the Town Hall, the soldier, whose name is withheld, was creating a disturbance at Main and West streets.

"I ordered him to go and told him to stop making noises," says Pironi in his report. "He assaulted me three times, striking me in the face. I called on bystanders for assistance. The soldier attacked the men and again attempted to strike me. I drew my club and hit him on the head." A member of the provost guard came on the scene and the soldier was taken to camp.

Jolson Fine Actor but Poor Husband, Says Wife in Suit

Oakland, Cal., June 26.—Declaring her husband is a "fine actor but a poor sort of husband," Mrs. Henrietta Jolson has filed suit here for divorce from Al Jolson, the comedian. When Jolson, who is in New York, heard of the suit he called his wife on the long distance telephone and tried to induce her not to file the suit, but Mrs. Jolson said she had made up her mind.

The action is based on mental and physical cruelty and "Jazz Doe," a musical comedy star, is named as Jolson's affinity. Mrs. Jolson says this affinity has attractions that her husband is unable to resist.

Mrs. Jolson says her husband makes $2,000 a week. She asks for $2,000 a month alimony. The Jolson's have been married eleven years. Mrs. Jolson was Miss Henrietta Kellar, daughter of Conrad Kellar, a retired sea captain.

Protests Beauties as Models

Cheyenne, Wyo., June 26.—Riding a horse in a spectacular dash up the Capitol steps, a cowgirl delivered a protest to the Governor of the State against the employment of beauties from New York and other cities of the East as models for a poster of frontier days to be used in the "round up" celebration here.

Cooling Rains Are Due for Boston This Evening

Cooling rains are headed for Boston and vicinity, and, according to Forecaster Smith's schedule, are due to arrive early this evening.

Rain is now falling in Northfield and Burlington, Vt., and this forenoon 2.08 inches of water fell at Cape Hatteras. Southern and Middle Atlantic States are being swept by showers, which are gradually driving into New England.

Tomorrow's brand of weather will be fair, without much change of temperature, and moderate south to southwest winds. The relief promised yesterday by the forecaster arrived in a quick shift in temperature last night, and much more tolerable weather today. At 10 o'clock thermometers within the city registered only 74 Fahrenheit, contrasted with 82 at the same hour yesterday.

Boston was the hottest place in New England this morning, and Eastport, Me., the coolest, in a comparatively frigid atmosphere of only 56.

NURSE SKEELS FAILS TO REMEMBER THE DATE OF HER MARRIAGE

IS PUT ON GRILL BY STATE

Prosecution Cross-Examines Accused Woman as Trial Nears End

She admitted, however, that she was under the influence of morphine at the time of the marriage.

Q.—You were conscious that you were married to him. A.—Yes.

Q.—And you wanted to marry him. A.—There was never any question about that.

Q.—You told your counsel, Mr. Daley, that you were most anxious to appear at this sitting of court. A.—I was most anxious to have it go on.

Q.—Did you tell him to tell me "you would walk into this court room and dance a jig" if I wanted you to.

This question provoked animated discussion between counsel. Mr. Daley objecting on the ground that Mr. Attwill knew that such a question must was never made. And that the question was asked solely for the purpose of prejudicing the defendant before the jury. The court allowed the question and the answer was "No."

Witness stated that she did recall the physician saying "press harder, press harder" when they were pressing her eyeballs in the Lawrence General Hospital, and that she vaguely remembered being told before that. That was the first day she saw anyone, she said. She was under the impression that State Officer Griffin was in the room many times but was not sure.

COURTHOUSE IS CROWDED.

Crowds of people thronged the courthouse and automobile parties from neighboring towns came early, equipped with baskets lunches to eat in the courthouse during the noon recess.

Far from being depressed at the day ahead of her—the stifling courtroom and a keen cross-examination by Attorney-General Harry C. Attwill—Mrs. Lundgren said she felt stronger today than she had in weeks.

"It is hard to face a courtroom full of people. It is hard to summon the strength," said Mrs. Lundgren. "But it is not so hard as sitting hour after hour in a sick room hearing all the things that the others have said."

Daniel J. Daley, counsel for the defendant, finished his direct examination by asking Mrs. Lundgren if she knew Mrs. Lundgren to identify a letter referred to yesterday written by her to Alfred Lundgren while she was in Bayonne, N. J., in May, 1918. Further introduction of evidence was prevented, the court, who suggested that they be postponed until such time as they are asked for by the cross-examiner.

THANKS THE PROSECUTOR.

Cross-examination was begun by Attorney-General Attwill, in the quiet manner he opened the final defendant. In answer to questions she said that two doctors had examined her as to her sanity, and that they had treated her kindly. She assured the prosecutor that he had not angered her by his attitude during direct examination.

"Because I was always looking at Mr. Daley," she said in explanation. She thanked the prosecutor for his consideration of her comfort.

Q.—You went to the tiny house in 1916? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Was Mrs. Carter or Mrs. Wilder alive then? A.—I really don't know. Wilder. I was with Mrs. Carter for several weeks.

Q.—Where were you before that? A.—I think I had been visiting in Bayonne.

Q.—Was that the first time you ever met Miss Gay? A.—It was.

Q.—Was it the first time you ever met Mr. Gay? A.—Yes, sir, it was.

Q.—Do you recall whether the rooms upstairs were let while Mrs. Carter was alive? A.—There were teachers from Abbott Academy on the second floor, and maids on the third floor.

Q.—Where was Mrs. Carter's room? A.—On the second floor.

Witness said it was her impression that Miss Gay did the housework and everybody paid her a weekly salary. There was no cooking for Mrs. Gay or Mrs. Carter done in the house.

Q.—I understand you to say that Miss Gay was a very lovable girl? A.—She was, she was a very lovable girl.

Q.—Did you always get along well together? A.—We never had an unkind word.

Q.—In 1917, did Mis Gay do all the housework? A.—She was very tired and I can't say she did. The teachers made their own beds and dusted their own rooms.

Q.—Do you know if Miss Gay appeared to be food for consumption? A.—She had up to July or August.

TOLD ABOUT BURGLARS.

Witness said she had known Charles W. Gay and that he was a fine man.

Q.—Did you ever talk over the ghosts or burglars with Mr. Gay. A.—Not ghosts. I told him about the burglars trying to get some papers from the drawer.

Q.—Was there any reason why Mr. Gay could not come to the house and take papers at any time? A.—There was none, and he frequently did.

Q.—Did Miss Gay seem fond of her father? A.—She seemed very fond of him.

Q.—You never saw him doing anything that indicated that Mr. Gay was not fond of his daughter? A.—I thought he was always trying to help her out with her papers.

Q.—From the conversation with you he seemed anxious about her health and other things? A.—He did.

Q.—Were the relations between Mr. Gay and Mrs. Lane friendly? A.—To a certain extent.

Mrs. Lundgren said she was never present during conversations between the two, though she saw them talking in the drawing room.

Q.—Did you ever listen? A.—Never sir. Oh, never!

Q.—Your husband died on Jan. 1, 1917? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—After your brother separated from his wife, where did you see him? A.—In Los Angeles, where he lived with my mother and father.

Q.—When did you see him in the West? A.—I can't recall the year, but he spent a night and two days with us in Glendale.

FORGETS MARRIAGE DATE.

When did you say you were married? A.—I can't quite remember.

Witness recalled that she was married in March.

Q.—You said to Mr. Daley that you were married in 1916? A.—I don't recall dates.

Q.—How long were you married when your husband died? A.—I could count that if I had a chance to think.

The prosecutor asked her to attempt to count them, and proceeded to the next question as to where furs were purchased that were examined yesterday. Attorney Daley objecting on the ground that Mr. Attwill knew that such a question must was never made. And that the question was asked solely for the purpose of prejudicing the defendant before the jury. The court allowed the question and the answer was "No."

Witness stated that she did recall the physician saying "press harder, press harder" when they were pressing her eyeballs in the Lawrence General Hospital, and that she vaguely remembered being told before that. That was the first day she saw anyone, she said. She was under the impression that State Officer Griffin was in the room many times but was not sure.

COURTHOUSE IS CROWDED.

Crowds of people thronged the courthouse and automobile parties from neighboring towns came early, equipped with baskets lunches to eat in the courthouse during the noon recess.

Far from being depressed at the day ahead of her—the stifling courtroom and a keen cross-examination by Attorney-General Harry C. Attwill—Mrs. Lundgren said she felt stronger today than she had in weeks.

"It is hard to face a courtroom full of people. It is hard to summon the strength," said Mrs. Lundgren. "But it is not so hard as sitting hour after hour in a sick room hearing all the things that the others have said."

Daniel J. Daley, counsel for the defendant, finished his direct examination by asking Mrs. Lundgren if she knew Mrs. Lundgren to identify a letter referred to yesterday written by her to Alfred Lundgren while she was in Bayonne, N. J., in May, 1918. Further introduction of evidence was prevented, the court, who suggested that they be postponed until such time as they are asked for by the cross-examiner.

INVITE PEOPLE OF N. E. TO MEET DE VALERA ON SUNDAY AT FENWAY PARK

The Bench and Bar Committee of the Irish Victory Fund sent the following invitation today to the people of New England:

The Judges and lawyers of Massachusetts, acting through the Bench and Bar Committee of the Irish Victory Fund, extend to all Americans (both men and women), irrespective of race or creed, an invitation to meet President Eamon De Valera of the Irish republic at the mass meeting to be held Sunday afternoon at the Fenway Baseball Park.

The big baseball park can accommodate 30,000 people. The speaking will be from a stand erected in the centre of the baseball diamond facing the large grandstands.

President De Valera's address will be a message that the whole civilized world is waiting to hear, as it will be the first speech delivered to an American audience since his arrival from Ireland.

While the Americans of Irish blood are arranging this great meeting, and naturally they are more keenly interested in the cause of Ireland than those of other racial ties, the bench and bar committee are desirous of making clear that all Americans are welcome.

Boston has ever been the "cradle of liberty." Its ground and its edifices are hallowed with the memories and traditions of the struggle for liberty made by the founders of our own republic, and the labors of patriots and real Americans upholding the right to liberty of all people suffering from oppression or striving for freedom. It is peculiarly fitting that to Boston the newly chosen chief executive of the Irish republic should come to plead the cause of his people.

No tickets are being issued, and there will be no charge for admission or seats. The meeting will begin at 3 o'clock, and the gates to the park will be open at 1 o'clock. Other details will be announced later through the press.

MYSTERIOUS "BOMB" WAS RAILROAD SIGNAL FUSE

The mysterious object found in the engine room of the State Mutual Building, 50 Congress street, which was believed to be a bomb, was identified by State Chemist Walter L. Wedger as an ordinary crimped end fuse used for signalling purposes on railroads.

Owing to the sinister appearance it wore, no attempt was made by the police or others to examine it before Mr. Wedger returned from an out-of-town trip. In the meantime it reposed, carefully guarded, in Superintendent Crowley's office at Police Headquarters.

Children Killed in Food Riots

London, June 26.—A Central News dispatch from Berlin reports renewed rioting and plundering of food shops. Three children were killed in the disturbances. A Spartacan uprising in Dusseldorf has resulted in general plundering there and all traffic has been forced to suspend.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and rosy-white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless and never irritates.—Advertisement.

MISS PUFFER IN COURT AT AYER

Counsel Asks Continuance of Case Against Her Until Next Fall

Ayer, June 26—Following the appointment by Judge George P. Lawton in the Middlesex Probate Court at Cambridge of Attorney George L. Wilson of Ayer as temporary guardian of Miss Mabel Puffer, who sought to wed her negro choreman, "Honey" Hazard, Miss Puffer returned here in charge of Mrs. Hughron, police matron of the Ayer Jail, and was placed in the detention room.

She appeared in the Ayer court this morning, where her attorney, Mr. Wilson, informed the court of the action taken by Judge Lawton, and asked for a continuation of the statutory charge against her until next Fall.

In the meantime Mr. Wilson secured the appointment of a committee of three, including Thomas F. Mullen, court officer; Selectmen Douglas C. Smith and Norman K. Clark, as attorney, to appraise her estate.

A new feature was added to the case when it was learned on reliable authority that Hazard is said to have $5,000 more of Miss Puffer's money in his possession.

"We are looking for a bundle of money belonging to Miss Puffer that has disappeared," said her attorney. "We haven't any figures to give out now, as to just how large an amount it is."

Drive Couple Out of Town After Raid on Dance Hall

Pittsfield, June 26.—As the result of a raid by the police on Hoecker's dance hall at Pontlan Lake, where it is claimed the "Shimmy" was being danced, Francis A. Jones, said to be of Cambridge, and a woman he called his "morganatic wife," were allowed to leave Pittsfield.

Jones was running the dance without a permit from the Mayor.

The woman, twenty-four years old and pretty, the police say, was married in Cambridge in 1912 to a man named Markham, who went into the navy in the war.

CHASE-CHACES HAVE FAMILY REUNION

Concord Gathering Hears O. P. Chase Urge Continued U. S. Control of Railroads

The twentieth annual reunion of the Chase-Chace family was held in Concord today, with services beginning at 9.30 in the Trinitarian Congregational Church, in charge of Mrs. Marion Chase Baker of Concord, Mrs. Sarah A. Chase of Boston, Mrs. Ward Chase of Providence, Mrs. Cora C. Slade of Fall River and Major M. Gould of Portland, Me.

The feature of the morning meeting was a talk on contemporaneous history by Acting President Omar P. Chase of Andover, in which Mr. Chase warmly advocated government ownership of railroads. Parts of the speech follow:

"It is one of the responsibilities of the old American families that they should lead in patriotism," explained Mr. Chase, "and their patriotism should be based upon a virile and intelligent conception of our national institutions and purposes.

"The prospect of a League of Nations commands our approval, not because it can magically eliminate evil from the world, but because it is the only way that has been yet found to be suggested to guard against the perils through which we and other nations have lately passed.

"The railways and the waterways are as truly public property as are the highways over which our fathers drove their teams. Who would countenance a proposal by the government, if it had the power, to turn over the highways to private capital, that they might erect again the discarded toll gates and collect tribute from the people? Then by what perversion of reasoning can it be seriously argued that our railroads should be given back into hands which reach for private profit—a profit which can only be secured from your pocket and from mine?"

The program for the Chase family reunion included a prayer, by the Rev. Jason P. Chase of Boston, and an address of welcome by the Rev. George A. Tewksbury of Concord.

After Acting President Omar P. Chase's address there was a solo by Mrs. Elsie L. Rose of Concord, a reading by ex-President Alfred Bunker of Boston, an address by Allen French of Concord, followed by the report of officers, report of the nominating committee, report of the editor of the Chase Family Chronicle, and the election of officers. Dinner followed at the Colonial Inn.

MEDFORD MAYOR VETOES RENDERING PLANT ORDER

Mayor Haines of Medford vetoed the order, passed by the Medford Board of Aldermen on Monday night granting permission for the establishment of a rendering plant on Locust street by the William C. Barry Company for the purpose of manufacturing soap from bones and grease. Mayor Haines takes the position that such an establishment, being near the residential district of Wellington, would be a nuisance.

Don't Spoil Your Hair By Washing It

When you wash your hair, be careful what you use. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful in all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—Advertisement.

BIG EXPOSITION BEING HELD BY METHODISTS

Life Size Model of Morgan Memorial Feature of Centenary Celebration

A life size model of Morgan Memorial is one of the principal points of interest in the Home Mission exhibit at the Methodist centenary celebration, which is now in progress at Columbus, Ohio.

Methodists from all over the country are arriving at the mammoth exposition at the rate of over 50,000 a day to celebrate the founding of Methodist missions a hundred years ago and the raising of $162,000,000 for world reconstruction.

CHURCH WORK DEMONSTRATED.

In the Morgan Memorial section a printing press, furniture repairing, shoe repairing, tinkering, a salvage department, a sorting department and a store, are all in full operation daily. This industrial activity is a demonstration of work that the church is actually doing.

This exhibit and these demonstrations represent the work of the Bureau of Goodwill Industries of the Department of Cities of the Methodist Episcopal Board of Home Missions and Church Extension. Dr. E. J. Helms of Boston, for twenty-five years superintendent of Morgan Memorial and national superintendent of the Bureau of Goodwill Industries, and O. A. Friedman are in charge.

The Bureau of Goodwill Industries is a very youthful institution, its work having been begun by seven members of the Morgan Memorial Church in Boston just a few years ago. Others soon fell in line and in November, 1918, the work was organized on a large scale.

RUN FOR RELIEF OF POOR.

The object of the Goodwill Industries is to translate into practice the spirit of the Gospel as contained in the sermon of Louis Blanc, "To each according to his need, from each according to his ability." These industries are not run for profit, but all the income goes toward the training of the laborers and for the relief of the poor.

Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes and all the Methodist district superintendents of New England attended a special conference at Cleveland, O., to consider the conservation program of the Methodist Centenary, which has raised to date $112,000,000 for world reconstruction.

Fitz Has $50,000,000 Bill for Helping Home Owners

Washington, June 26.—A bill to encourage home owners and the building of homes was introduced in the House yesterday by Representative Fitzgerald of Massachusetts.

The bill provides for the authorization of a loan of $50,000,000 to be dispensed by the Federal farm loan board through the twelve Federal land banks.

It stipulates that loans not to exceed $5,000 or less than $500 shall be made for the purchase of land for agricultural purposes; for the purchase of equipment for the same and building and improvement of farm lands.

AUTO KISSING BEE ENDS IN COURT

Worcester, June 26.—Trouble began for George Williams, shoe superintendent of this city, when he accepted the invitation of Mrs. May Belle Here, his neighbor, to go on an auto ride. Today in the Superior Criminal Court, Judge O'Connell will hand down a decision on an indictment which charges Williams with an attack on his buxom neighbor of thirty-five years.

It was all May Belle's fault, according to George, who was fortunate in having the full support of his wife in the controversy, despite his testimony that he had kissed May Belle in full measure for the kisses she had first bestowed upon him during the ride.

May Belle, according to George, stopped the auto out in the suburbs, and with the exclamation, "Here goes, 'over the top,' lightly vaulted from the front to the rear seat. Whereupon, said Williams, he was overwhelmed by a barrage of hugs and kisses.

Mrs. Williams testified that George had come right home and, like the good father of five children that he is, ceased to his dereliction. On the other hand May Belle's husband was in court to speak a good word for his wife.

The evidence revealed that the two families had been friendly for a long time—until recently. George and May Belle had gone hunting together and George received presents from May Belle, but those days are over.

PRETTY PAGEANT BY GIRLS AT LANCASTER

"Festal Days" Given on Green by School Pupils With Music, Dances and Gay Costumes

Lancaster, June 26.—Several hundred people witnessed the pageant given at the Lancaster Industrial School for Girls in celebration of the close of the year's work. The large audience was grouped in a semi-circle about a central cleared space under the big elms of the campus; and here on the green grass, with a background of flowers and verdure, the girls frolicked.

The presentation of "A Pageant of Festal Days," included a series of pantomimes representing the different big holidays of the year, all connected by the explanatory interpolations of a herald in purple and gold. Miss Eleanor E. Eyerall, the attractive little daughter of Mrs. Amy Eyerall, superintendent of the school, was very charming and effective in this role. She opened the pageant by reciting Tennyson's "Death of the Old Year," and announced the coming of the New Year. Then followed the other festal days, interpreted by the girls of the school, with many pretty dances, tableaux and music by a well-trained chorus.

The idea of the pageant was by Mrs. Marion L. Noyes and it was arranged to an appropriate musical program by Miss Nellie Foster. These two women also planned the different dances and tableaux. Miss Foster, who is musical director of the school, trained and directed the large girls' chorus, and Miss Elizabeth Griffin played the baritone accompaniments.

There are 250 girls in the school and they went through the difficult measures of the various dances with grace and skill. The costumes were many and colorful and well designed, and all of them were the work of the girls themselves, under the teachers' supervision.

One of the prettiest numbers represented Washington's visit to Betsy Ross and the making of the first flag. St. Valentine was not forgotten, nor was May Day, with its pretty Maypole dance and song. April Fool's Day called forth the clowns, and was a delightful bit of nonsense. Then there was July Forth, with its high patriotic message; Hallowe'en, with witches and ghosts and hats and dancing sprites; the first Thanksgiving, with the Puritans in solemn conclave with painted Indians; and Christmas, "best day of all," which ended the afternoon's program, with a parade of the entire pageant personnel.

Following the pageant, the visitors were shown about the schoolrooms where there were various displays of work done by the girls during the year.

SEEK TAUNTON BOY WHO LEFT HOME WITH $75

East Taunton, June 26.—Daniel W. O'Connor, sixteen, a pupil in St. Mary's Parochial School, disappeared from his home here Friday morning, and has not been seen since. His uncle, J. J. O'Connor, Boston American newsdealer in East Taunton, is making a thorough search for him.

He was last seen on a trolley car bound for Brockton, Friday morning. He is five feet seven inches in height, weighs 100 pounds, wore a light suit, light cap, dark brown shoes, black stockings, purple necktie and striped collar when he left home.

He had a $50 Liberty bond and $25 in money. Mr. O'Connor has asked the American's help in tracing him.

JURORS PAY HONOR TO JUDGE JAMES M. MORTON

Resolutions in token of the esteem in which they held him were presented to Judge James M. Morton, Jr., of the United States District Court, in his chambers in the Federal building by a delegation of jurors who sat through the March term of the Federal court. Oliver C. Elliot, superintendent of the Boston Industrial School, made the presentation. In accepting the resolutions Judge Morton complimented the jurors on their work, stating that as far as he knew no motion as yet had been asked to have any of their verdicts set aside, a remarkable record.

BRITISH KNIGHT IS ROUTED BY SINN FEIN

Disparages Irish Republic and Is Kicked Out of the St. Regis Hotel

New York, June 26.—Sir Charles Allom, propelled by a dozen pairs of boots and the strong arms of guests, employes and the proprietor, came sailing out of the entrance of the St. Regis Hotel.

He made the trip over the eight steps of the lobby entrance, hit the curb and rolled over. The handsome Briton, tall, dapper, in light gray tweeds, curled his small gray mustache, tripped his cane and left the scene.

Here follows the story of the events preceding the bouncing of Sir Charles as told by a dozen guests at the St. Regis and the proprietor, H. M. Haan.

INSULT IRISH GIRLS.

Several days ago the management of the St. Regis granted permission to young women working for the Irish Victory Loan Committee of the Friends of Irish Freedom to establish a booth in the hotel. Sheila O'Reilly, a fair-haired colleen of sixteen, and Mabel Clayton, eighteen, placed a table in the lobby, midway between the desk and the dining room.

Yesterday, Sir Charles Allom, a frequent guest, dropped in. He is a member of the firm of White, Allom & Co., artist decorators, with offices at No. 19 East Fifty-second street, just off Fifth avenue, and a factory in West Fifty-second street.

Sir Charles leaned with his back toward the hotel desk. His gaze fell squarely on the posted placard: "The Irish Victory Drive for the Freedom of Ireland."

Sir Charles strode to the table behind which sat Sheila O'Reilly and Mabel Clayton.

Sir Charles—"What is this for? Are you collecting funds for the Irish rebellion?"

Miss O'Reilly—"Why, no; we are collecting money for the Irish Republic."

Sir Charles (white with anger)—"I'm an Irishman, and you do not know what you are talking about. You are being led by priests and the clergy."

Sir Charles turned and, whipping the air with his cane, encountered Joseph Haan, brother of the hotel proprietor. The loud protest brought the proprietor from the dining room. He became the target of the conversation.

Sir Charles—I object to that crowd.

Proprietor Haan—What right, Sir Charles, have you to object to me in my hotel? They are here for a worthy purpose, and at my invitation.

Husky hotel porters appeared from all directions, assisted a willing guest. Sir Charles was seized by the scruff of the neck and a portion of the trousers. He was "lifted" toward the doorway.

A reporter called at Sir Charles' office. After explaining his mission he was told Sir Charles was out and could not be seen for several days.

SICK GIRL ACCIDENTALLY TURNS ON GAS; MAY DIE

Fitchburg, June 26.—Miss Gertrude D. Shea, No. 122 Kimball street, eighteen years old, is at the Burbank Hospital in a critical condition as the result of being overcome by gas by the accidental opening of a gas jet in the stove at her home.

She has serious kidney trouble and while working about the house became ill and it is believed that in falling to the floor the gas cock was accidentally opened. Reports from the hospital state she is in a critical condition.

MILFORD GIRL BRIDE OF SALEM SOLDIER

Milford, June 26.—Sergeant Charles A. Goucher, son of Mrs. Mary Goucher of Salem, and Miss Marion Davoren, daughter of Jeremiah Davoren, were married at St. Mary's Church by the Rev. J. A. McNamara, who later celebrated a nuptial mass.

They were attended by Madeline Jackson and Thomas Erklen.

$63,000 OF BANK MAIL BURNED IN AIRPLANE

Postoffice Officials Tried to Conceal Loss, Is Charge Made on Floor of Congress

By Universal Service.

Washington, June 26.—Loss of $63,000 worth of mail matter, the property of the Harriman National Bank of New York, in a fire which destroyed the Cleveland-Chicago mail-carrying airplane May 24, and an alleged attempt by the Postoffice Department to cover up the loss were revealed in the House.

Representative Steenerson of Minnesota, chairman of the postoffice committee, in a resolution, said the letters containing the lost checks, drafts and other valuable papers were transferred from train to airplane without the knowledge or consent of the aviator. He calls on the Postmaster-General for full information.

Chairman Steenerson made public the correspondence between J. W. Harriman, president of the bank, officials of the Postoffice Department and members of Congress. Charging that he had failed to get any satisfaction from the Postoffice Department, Mr. Harriman appealed to Senator Wadsworth of New York, Senator Townsend of Michigan, chairman of the Senate Postoffice Committee, and to Mr. Steenerson.

Following Mr. Harriman's original complaint to the Postmaster-General he was advised by the postoffice officials in New York city that a search for the lost mail was being made. A subsequent telegram to the Postmaster-General demanded an answer "as this is to be reported to the press."

The following day, June 13, Second Assistant Postmaster-General Praeger in charge of the airplane mail service, wired Mr. Harriman that a portion of the New York mail was taken off the train to an aviplane from Cleveland to Chicago. "A portion of this was destroyed," the telegram added.

$10,000 REWARD FOR RETURN OF STOLEN GEMS

New York, June 26.—A reward of $10,000 for the recovery of the Millhiser jewels, valued at $275,000, is offered by the management of the Hotel Biltmore, from whose safe the jewels mysteriously disappeared between May 20 and June 13.

The safe in which the package was locked is in the centre of the hotel office, in plain view of the main corridor, where an armed watchman is on duty day and night. The belief is held by detectives that the jewels disappeared from the package before it was deposited in the safe.

The funeral of Lieutenant William L. Drohan, the most widely known junior officer of the 101st Infantry, who died Monday, was held today from the home of P. H. Graham, No. 33 Harvest street, South Boston.

St. Margaret's Church, Columbia road, where a solemn high mass of requiem was sung for the dead officer, was thronged with friends of Lieutenant Drohan. In the gathering were practically every military man of prominence in this section of New England, many State and city officials, and leaders of business and the bar. Hundreds of persons were unable to gain admittance to the church, and remained outside during the services.

Rev. William A. Ryan, pastor of the church, was the celebrant of the mass, Rev. Francis Kenny deacon, and Rev. Thomas McManamon sub-deacon. Andrew Oakes was master of ceremonies. Ten Boston clergymen were seated in the sanctuary.

Major-General Clarence R. Edwards headed the list of honorary pallbearers, which also included Brigadier-General Charles H. Cole, Brigadier-General E. Leroy Sweetser, Brigadier-General John J. Sullivan of the State Guard, Colonel Edward L. Logan, James J. Phelan, former Congressman Joseph H. O'Neil, Lieutenant Mark King, Chaplain Lyman Rollins of the 101st, Congressman James A. Gallivan and Captain J. B. Mertour. The active pall-bearers were four nephews of the deceased, John, James, Benjamin and Andrew Drohan, and Edward Wall and Joseph Kelly.

A military escort of 100 members of the 101st Infantry, under command of Major William H. McCarthy, and delegations from a number of fraternal organizations of which Lieutenant Drohan was a member, accompanied the body. The burial was at Old Calvary Cemetery.

MRS. W. H. O'BRIEN HURT IN LYNN AUTO CRASH

While on her way to Portland for vacation today, Mrs. William H. O'Brien, wife of a public service commission supervisor, was cut on the face and head when thrown against the windshield of her husband's automobile in a head-on collision with a machine driven by Adelard Martell of No. 22 Ireson street, Lynn. The accident occurred on Lynnway, at the foot of Commercial street, Lynn, and Martell said was due to defective steering gear. Mrs. O'Brien was removed to Lynn Hospital.

O'Brien's daughter, Marguerite, was driving her father's car. Mr. O'Brien was also a passenger.

ARMY DRIVE HAS BEST DAY ON THE COMMON

Lieut.-Col. Frank Perkins the Feature of the Noonday Rally; Music Also Makes a Hit

Lieutenant-Colonel Frank S. Perkins of Salem, formerly connected with the 101st Field Artillery, told the biggest crowd yet assembled at the noon army rally on Boston Common that every man got more out of the army than he put into it.

It was a great day for recruiting. The singing just turned up every one to a pitch of enthusiasm.

Colonel Perkins said in part:

"Every soldier stands for 100 per cent. American. There is no hyphen in the American soldier. He is from start to finish an American. It does not make any difference whether he came from Italy, France or Poland, he is always an American soldier.

"He stands between his country and her enemies. What do you get out of the army? you ask. You have an opportunity to get more education and to feel the help of discipline and recognition of constituted authority which helps you to be a better citizen.

"This meeting carried on under the auspicies of the Boston American is popularizing army recruiting because the average man has not become familiar with what it offers.

NO MORE WAR WANTED.

"We don't want any more war, but what we do want is a number of citizens in reserve who will be willing to protect this country and keep it safe for democracy. Are you willing to do something? Just sign up!

Babe Hales with her Rag Time Band captivated the audience with her fine musical rendering, as did Dorothy Dudley with "My Arab Maid." Both of these pieces were encored and put the Filene Co-operative Association, of which they are members, away up high in musical talent. The association was all there with R. L. Harlow, writer of the song, "My Arab Maid," and Albert H. Fisher, leader of the band, who put life into the meeting.

MUSIC MAKES A HIT.

Then always ready and always with something new in the musical line came the Leo Feist company with three new songs, "Jerry," "Love's Lullaby" and "Not Forgetting the Old, Swet Way." These songs touched the tender sentimental spot in every one.

Tommy Ryan, who returned from Germany, where he has been helping the National War Council in his own specialty, was present. He told the crowd:

"Get a physical education by joining the army. Boys are coming out of the army are ninety-nine per cent. better physically than when they joined.

"Look at me. I'm turning seventy. Never touched a drop of liquor in my life and have never smoked. I'm just as strong today as when I was middle-weight champion. I like to see men side up with the army, for that means so much to them in every way."

Tommy will give some physical stunts in tomorrow's noon rally that will appeal to the younger generation and tell them what physical training does for general health.

CREEL TELLS OF BRITISH CRUELTIES TO CANADIANS

REIGN OF TERROR FOLLOWED ARTHUR'S DESPOTIC RULE

The Irish Question

By GEORGE CREEL.

Former Chief of the United States Bureau of Public Information.

PART VI.—Continued.

Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

And had he been writing of Ireland, Lord Durham could not have drawn a more accurate picture of the forces that work inevitably for poverty and emigration. "I dread," he declared, "the completion of the sad work of depopulation and impoverishment, which is now rapidly going on.

The present evil is not merely that improvement is stayed, and that the wealth and population of these colonies do not increase according to the rapid scale of American progress.

"No accession of population takes place by immigration and no capital is brought into the country. On the contrary, both the people and the capital seem to be quitting these dissatisfied provinces."

His report was dismissed contemptuously as a matter of course, the Duke of Wellington declaring that "local responsible government for Canada and and the sovereignty of Great Britain were completely incompatible."

Lord Stanley in asking the consequences of granting the Canadian demand, answered himself as follows: "The establishment of a republic—the concession would remove the only check to the tyrannical power of the dominant majority—a majority in numbers only, while in wealth, education and enterprise they are greatly inferior to the minority.

"The minority of the settlers are of British descent, and one thing is certain, if these settlers find themselves deprived of British protection they will protect themselves. Measures to that effect could be taken within six months after the concession." Exactly the claim of Carson and Bonar Law in 1914!

CONTINUOUS CRUELTIES.

Sir George Arthur, called from Van Diemen's Land to be governor-general of Canada, brought with him to his new post the same cruelty that had marked his despotic rule over England's convict settlement. Rebel leaders were hung, Jails filled with prisoners, and both provinces were given over to wholesale persecution that established a reign of terror throughout the length and breadth of Canada. Supported enthusiastically by Arthur, the oligarch groups of English office holders passed new and more odious laws, and in the fall of 1838 rebellion broke out anew.

Under the leadership of Van Schultz, a Polish exile, Canadian refugees and American sympathizers crossed the line to aid the rebels, but the American government, as an evidence of neutrality, seized their boats, depriving them of the arms and reinforcements that had been counted upon. Surrender came after fierce fighting, and the Governor, refusing to consider the men as other than traitors, hung Van Schultz and eleven of his associates. At other points, prisoners were shot down at once without even a court martial, and execution followed execution until the English people forced the government to call a halt upon the brutalities of General Arthur.

Lovers of liberty in England now formed a reconsideration of the report of Lord Durham, and insisted that the choice to be made was either a just and generous measure of self-government for Canada, or else armed occupation with all the savageries that subjugation entails.

SELF-RULE REFUSED.

Canada, more fortunate than Ireland, was separated from England by the Atlantic Ocean, not a narrow channel, and it was this fact, as much as anything else, that forced Home Rule into operation in 1841. The two Canadas were united under a single constitution "similar in principle to that of the United Kingdom;" the Executive Council was made responsible to the Legislature in the same way as the Cabinet is responsible to Parliament.

Members of the Council, like Cabinet ministers, vacated their seats on appointment, and had to seek re-election before they could act; and the Council was liable to be turned out of office by the vote of the legislative bodies. In a word, the Canadian people were "to execute as well as to make laws." All granted grudgingly after years of bitterness reddened by the blood of rebellion.

Learning nothing by the lesson, for inability to learn by experience is the one distinguishing characteristic of all Bourbon rule, the English government refused to the other provinces the self-government granted to the two Canadas.

Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island had remained "loyal" during the rebellions of Papineau and Mackenzie, though their grievances were as great, and had even sent militia to help crush the uprisings in the sister provinces. The reward for loyalty was to be told that they were not yet sufficiently advanced for self-government, whereupon the provinces, eyes somewhat opened, took a page out of the Canadian book, and commenced to agitate and threaten.

It is instructive, and even amusing, to note the absolute likeness of their complaints to those of the Irish. "absentee landlordism," for instance, being a bitter anger in the provinces no less than in Ireland. Most of the land had been granted to English peers, and the great majority of farmers paid rents to men never seen by them and who had no concern with them save in the matter of these rentals.

EVICTIONS COMMON.

Poor devils would spend years in improving a piece of wild land, only to be confronted by a demand for "arrears" or else a raise in rent far beyond his means. Evictions were as common as in Ireland and resistance just as violent. It was not until 1848 that New Brunswick and Nova Scotia secured self-government, while Prince Edward Island waited until 1852 and Newfoundland until 1855.

Another illuminative comparison is that between the Unionists of Ulster in 1914 and the Conservatives of Canada, the loyalty of both being revealed as a kind that endures only when coddled, breaking forth into disloyalty when its privileges are interfered with in any degree.

A bill introduced in the Canadian Parliament to meet the rebellion losses incurred by loyal French Canadians was fought with the utmost bitterness by the English ruling class, and open insurrection was threatened in event of its passage. When the measure was passed and duly signed by a courageous Governor-General, the wealth and respectability of Montreal mobbed Lord Elgin, stoned the members of Parliament from their seats and set the building on fire, an uprising that resulted in the change of the capital to Ottawa.

The British North America Act, put into operation in 1867, federated the Provinces of Canada, and gave the people a complete measure of Home Rule. Aside from the Parliament, however, with full control of trade, commerce, postal service, military and naval defence, fisheries, coinage, banking, criminal law and appeals, each province has its own provincial legislature, and its own responsible government, these things constituting the measure of justice that is denied to Ireland.

PROVINCES FEDERATED.

The "experiment" has been tried now for more than half a century, and from the very first hour of self-government every gloomy prophecy of the "loyalists" has been given the lie by results. Catholics and Protestants did not fly at each other's throats, but have lived in amity and accord, and the Canadian records fail to show a single instance of official bigotry or attempt at sectarian intolerance.

The "depopulation and impoverishment" noted by Lord Durham ceased quickly with responsible government, land and people have prospered in a truly marvelous degree, and the old hatreds and rebellions have been succeeded by a real loyalty that sent thousands of young Canadian volunteers to the defence of England in her hour of most terrible need.

There are results that could have been obtained in Ireland at any time in the last two hundred years had England chosen to meet the repeated rebellions of the Irish with the justice that one Canadian revolt compelled. Just as fairness won the love and allegiance of Canada and its people, giving the strength and safety of the empire a new foundation stone, so did the English policy of force in Ireland deepen ancient angers and feed the enmity of the Irish. Out of that implacable antagonism crouch on England's very threshold, but a million leagues, departed by their despairs, gave to other lands the genius that England despised and ignored.

Germany Must Sign Treaty or Starve, Says Ebert

London, June 26.—President Ebert, addressing German troops at Weimar, told them that if Germany had not agreed to sign the peace treaty it "meant slow starvation if not complete devastation for Germany," according to a Reuter dispatch.

"A slow process of starving to death, if not complete devastation, could have been expected for Germany had we rejected the treaty," said Ebert. "The ruin of the empire would certainly have followed and that must not be allowed to happen.

"Our Germany must live. That was what we had in mind when, inwardly struggling and with bleeding hearts we resolved upon that terrible 'yes.'

"We cannot doubt Germany's destiny. We will, therefore, mutually vow not to forget the Fatherland, but to hold out."

DECLARE MAYOR HAS FAILED IN PROMISES

A SHAMPOO WORTH TRYING

It is not necessary to shampoo your hair so frequently if it is entirely and properly cleansed each time by the use of a really good shampoo. The easiest to use and quickest drying shampoo that we can recommend to our readers is one that brings out all the natural beauty of the hair and may be enjoyed at very little expense, by dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox which can be obtained from any druggist's, in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just to the top of the head. This, when rubbed into the scalp and onto every strand of hair, chemically dissolves all impurities. It is very soothing and cooling in its action, as well as beneficial to both scalp and hair. After rinsing out the lather so created, you will find the scalp is fresh, clean and free from dandruff, while the hair dries quickly and evenly, developing a bright luster and a soft fluffiness that makes it seem very heavy.—Advertisement.

ENTER POLITICS, SAYS BRITISH WOMAN ENVOY

Miss Bondfield, First Labor Delegate From England to U. S., Outlines Program

Washington, June 26.—Miss Margaret G. Bondfield of London, the first woman fraternal delegate from the British Trade Union Congress to the American Federation of Labor convention at Atlantic City, said here that the women workers of England exerted an important influence not only in trade union affairs but political affairs as well.

While the only woman member of Parliament, the Countess Markiewicz of Ireland, is now in jail, Miss Bondfield predicted that the next election in England would see several women members elected to Parliament. Miss Bondfield expressed confidence that the movement to extend suffrage so that women under thirty years of age as well could vote would be successful. She said she was delighted to see how the United States Senate passed the suffrage amendment. Said Miss Bondfield:

"We have found that the workers must have both political and industrial control.

"In general women are far better organized in England than in America. The number of women organized in trade unions in England is approximately 750,000. In America the women in the clothing trades are better organized.

"Wherever there is a more thorough organization then conditions are better. Thus in the clothing trades in America the women have a forty-four-hour week while in England we are still struggling to get forty-eight-hour week for the clothing trades' women. Also the wages for women in clothing trades in America are higher. That sounds good, but one must take into account the difference in money values.

"It would be difficult to say what adaptations from American labor conditions could be used to advantage in England or vice versa."

IRELAND'S CASE MAY YET REACH PEACE BOARD

Walsh and Dunne Will Try to Present Claims Before Wilson Leaves

Washington, June 26.—Ireland's case may yet be heard by the peace conference, according to reliable information received here.

Action by the "big four," however, will have to come before Friday, as it is understood that President Wilson will start for the United States on Saturday.

If the peace conference consents to hear the claims of the Irish nationalists, they will be presented by two American officers formerly connected with the American Red Cross in France recently. Here those who pay with cash and carry their own bundles now get lower prices with the cost of service separated from the cost of merchandise, for they are not asked to pay for what they do not use.

Now let us see how the charge-and-send customer benefits

To begin with, wasteful and indiscriminate service is eliminated—and so the charge-and-send customer does not have to pay for waste.

The charge-and-send customer pays everywhere and always for charge account and delivery services, but the charge is usually hidden in the cost of the merchandise, so that it is not realized.

The Filene store offers its charge-and-send customers this: they can buy here at LOW CASH PRICES—prices made lower because the cost of service is separated.

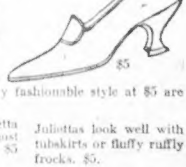
Then, after taking advantage of these lower cash prices, they can pay for as little or as much service as they want.

THE PLAN IS BETTER ALL AROUND!

White canvas Julietta pumps, $5

A Julietta for this price is a needle in the haystack that only the Filene value eye could find.

Good canvas shoes at $5 are scarcer every day.



$5

In fact, white canvas shoes in an extremely fashionable style at $5 are almost extinct.

The fashionable Julietta is a wise buy at almost any price, but for $5 can't be beat.

Juliettas look well with tubskirts or fluffy ruffly frocks, $5.

If you like buckles, $3 buys a pair of beautiful beaded white ones.

Stocks Rule Higher in New York at Noon; Boston Market Quiet and Irregular During Morning

U. S. RUBBER IS STRONG AND ACTIVE

Copper Shares Advance, but Fail to Retain All Gains

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks were higher in the majority of instances in New York at noon, although below the best level of the morning. The price range was rather narrow, and the market had few features. U. S. Rubber was one of them. It became very active in the second hour and advanced more than two points, to a highest record price. Other high record sales were recorded for Cerro de Pasco, Chandler and American Linseed Co., while International Nickel sold at its highest for 1919. Haskell and Barker attracted attention before the session was over, selling more than four points above Wednesday's closing price. The market was comparatively quiet, first hour transactions totalling but about 150,000 shares.

There was profit taking after the first hour advance and it affected coppers among other issues, they failing to retain all early gains.

STOCKS TO ADVANCE MOST.

Among the stocks to show largest gains at the end of the morning were American Linseed Oil, Car and Foundry, Baldwin, Chandler, Crucible, General Motors, International Harvester, United Cigar Stores, Industrial Alcohol and Royal Dutch of New orYk. They were up from one to five points, Chandler and Baldwin the most.

Among the weakest issues were Baltimore & Ohio and Reading, the former off 3% at 45¾ at noon, and the latter 1¼ at 87¾. Other declines were fractional.

U. S. Steel was up ⅛ at 106⅝, ranging during the morning from 106⅜ to 107¼.

MARKET OPENED IRREGULAR.

While price changes were irregular at the opening of the undertone was good and valuations worked upward at once. Within half an hour the market was fairly strong. It was held on Wall Street that the active movement of the call rate is due to the imminence of July disbursements. The call is also said to indicate that it implies desire on the part of important financial interests to restrict speculation to some extent for the present. The financial situation in Europe is such that the United States will be called upon to render assistance that must be felt before long by money centres in this country. There was much satisfaction in some Wall Street circles when it was found that share transactions had fallen below the million-share mark.

COPPERS HAD A GOOD START.

Coppers were firm at the outset and were dealt in on increased scale. This is due to trade reports. The latter are more favorable than for some time. The advancing price of metal indicates more buying despite labor troubles at brass plants. It is soon as the peace treaty is signed more foreign demand is expected. Germany is said to be in need of immediate industrial activity and must need a very large amount of red metal. That country was one of the biggest buyers in the American market before the war. Before the end of an hour Utah copper and Inspiration were up a point each, while Cerro de Pasco had advanced nearly four to a highest record price. Anaconda and others were showing fractional gains.

RAILROADS WERE WEAK.

Railroads were weak on a class at the opening and later, Baltimore & Ohio receding the most. Directors of this road adjourned without taking action on the dividend. A statement is promised later. The common issue of this road declined nearly four points during the first hour. Other rails eased off. Among the most active stocks were Marine common, Studebaker, Baldwin, American International, Cuba Cane, Royal Dutch of New York and Car Foundry. They all advanced. Active issues were the strongest as a rule during the morning.

Want New Sugar Contract

In anticipation of a resumption of trading in sugar futures on the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange, there is talk of sending the contract to provide for a unit of trading of fifty tons New York delivery to a unit of the same amount Cuban delivery. But objections are raised. It is claimed the change would put ocean transportation cost upon buyer. The London Sugar Exchange is planning to reopen next week, and it is doubted if trading in sugar futures will be resumed in New York before that date.

Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad declared regular semi-annual dividend of 2 per cent, payable July 25 to stock of record July 15.

Cons. Copper Mines Co.

It is quite probable that aside from the inside officials, no brokerage house in the country is equipped with such exclusive information which we possess regarding the above named company.

It is sufficiently interesting to write for.

TRADING DULL ON LOCAL EXCHANGE

At the opening the Boston market was quiet and irregular, but it quickly improved as to prices although business remained dull. Among advances registered during the morning were American Telephone, United Shoe, Kelsey, Steel, Ventura, Copper Range, Mayflower-Old Colony and East Butte.

Late in the morning Swift & Co. rose up a point and among other issues to show gains were Utah Copper, Ventura, Copper Range, East Butte, Boston & Maine and North Butte. Among the declines were small, as did declines. Weak issues included Woolen preferred, Shattuck-Arizona, Calumet, Tonopah Mining, Granby, Wampum, Tonopah Belmont, Quincy, Wright-Martin, Fund Creek, American Telephone and Mexican Metals. In the three hours 50,000 shares of stock had been sold, or about 17,000 more than in the first hour.

Copper issues made less response to the rise in the metal than had been anticipated in New York.

Mohawk directors have declared a quarterly dividend of $1 a share.

OIL REFINERY CAPACITY EXCEEDS PRODUCTION

Although there has been tremendous development of oil production in recent years the country's refinery capacity is considerably in excess of the output. Daily refinery capacity in the United States is about 3,300,000 barrels a day and production is estimated to average at present about 1,000,000 barrels a day.

There are about seventeen additional refineries under construction and hundreds of new companies which hope to become producers. More than 130 were incorporated in April alone.

According to the Oil City Derrick, 2,633 oil wells were completed in May. Those which produced oil numbered 1,302 and their initial production averaged 87 barrels a day. Wells that failed numbered 1,331. There were 173 which produced gas.

HAMPDEN LOSES 4 MILLION SUIT AGAINST B. & M.

The full bench of the Supreme Court has passed down a decision overruling the exceptions of the plaintiff in the suit of the Hampden Railroad Company against the Boston & Maine Railroad Company.

The suit arose out of an alleged breach of agreement made by Charles S. Mellen, then president of the New Haven, and the Boston & Maine railroad companies, to take a lease of the Hampden road when completed, and the Hampden road sought to recover damages to the amount of about $4,000,000.

The case was tried before Chief Justice Aiken of the Superior Court at Springfield in May and June of 1918, and after a trial lasting several weeks Chief Justice Aiken ordered a verdict in favor of the Boston & Maine.

The Hampden road, which was to be about thirteen miles in length, was to be built from Bondsville to Chicopee Falls, and also to the Athol branch of the Boston & Albany road. It was claimed that Mr. Mellen regarded it as an important link in making connections with trunk lines bringing grain from the West to the seaboards of New York and Boston.

The road was actually completed to Athol Junction in 1912, but not to Chicopee Falls, and nothing further was done because the directors of the Hampden road refused, that time information formed by Mr. Mellen that the Boston & Maine did not want the road.

The Boston & Maine denied the authority of Mr. Mellen to change the terms of the agreement, and also replied on the fact that the Public Service Commissioners never approved of the agreement. The cost of the road at more than $150,000 a mile also entered into the defence.

She said that her attorney caused her to pack up and go back to New York where she is now living with her parents.

Pending the outcome of the hearing on her petition she was getting $10 weekly.

Suffrage Amendment Is Ratified by Bay State

A fight begun sixty-eight years ago in Massachusetts for the enfranchisement of women was won when the House by an overwhelming vote ratified the Federal amendment extending suffrage to women

[illegible] who thronged the gallery of the House and remained [illegible] the hour during the all-day debate [illegible] to the [illegible] of Mayor Peters.

When the last branch of the legislature [illegible] on the amendment [illegible] the Atlantic, ratifying resolve] in the vote of 185 to 47. There was a demonstration lasting several minutes. The cheers and applause continued while Speaker Warner pounded the desk with his gavel for order and women stood in the galleries and waved their handkerchiefs and cried for silence.

The House after listening to the best [illegible] action could inspire, rejected by a vote of 166 to 87, an [illegible] to [illegible] the suffrage question [illegible] Queen Resolution [illegible] Representative Sawyer [illegible] Stone [illegible].

HOUSE ACTION IN FINAL.

[illegible] was to pass resolutions ratifying the suffrage amendment. As resolutions do not have to be signed by the Governor, the final action to insure suffrage in Massachusetts has been taken by the Legislature, the Senate having preceded the House in the adoption of the suffrage amendment.

[illegible] was [illegible] in the eighth State to [illegible] to take [illegible] on the passage of the suffrage amendment [illegible] of the 19th congress which submitted the amendment to the States. Congress so stood out that the first [illegible] was [illegible] on behalf of women suffrage was held in this State in 1874 at which Wendell Phillips an other noted reformers of that day were present in recognizing the passage of it.

[illegible] the speakers when a general sympathy with a referendum proposal, viewing it in the [illegible] of an attempt by some men [illegible] to [illegible] their decision.

Representative Sawyer of Ware declared the question was a national one and not a State question, and therefore there should be no referendum. Representative McDonnell of Boston declared the Legislature might [illegible] as well recognize the demand for suffrage at once as to be compelled by public sentiment to do so later. Equal suffrage will be a great purifier of politics, he pointed out.

POINTS IN DEBATE.

Representative Mitchell of Springfield declared:

"The Senator John W. Weeks owes his defeat to his attitude on woman suffrage. The women rose to their opportunity and defeated him."

Said Representative Greenwood of Everett: "Canada has given the franchise to women. Shall Massachusetts [illegible] to do as well."

Representative Young of Weston said:

"The real issue is not a straw vote, but woman suffrage. The vote of 1915 was on State suffrage and this is on national suffrage. In 1915 the people voted strongly against the amendment to make women notaries public, but last year they voted for it overwhelmingly. This shows a change of opinion which justifies a vote now. The opposition to suffrage comes from districts where the liquor interests are strong."

The League of Nations, Representative Atkin of Lowell declared is another reason why women should be given the vote. He pointed to his own district as evidence of the change in public opinion on this question since 1915 saying it was a gain of 11 in that year but in favor of it today. To defeat the amendment, he asserted, would be to advertise that our women are inferior to women of other States where they have the vote.

Ten of the Many Reasons Why the UNITED STATES ARMY is YOUR Opportunity

1 Good Pay and Money in the Bank
Because you get food, clothing, living quarters, medical and dental attention FREE. The present rate of pay starts at $30 a month—mostly profit. Can your present job show you this profit? It means money in the bank, if you are thrifty.

2 Life in the Open Air
Because you spend most of your time out-of-doors, becoming toughened and strong, browned by the sun, as fit as a fiddle and sound as a nut. You sleep well, eat well, and feel well every minute.

3 Free Education
Because, while Uncle Sam gives you your living and pays you well, he also provides schools in which you can learn nearly anything, if you take advantage of your opportunity.

4 Free Training in a Skilled Trade
Because in the Army you are given opportunity to learn almost any skilled trade you can think of (see list below). Thus, when your enlistment expires, you have laid the foundation for SUCCESS in life.

5 Character Building
Because there is nothing like army life to stiffen a man's backbone, give him courage, will-power, and respect for himself, his fellow-men and his country. The good soldier develops qualities of leadership.

6 Body and Health-Building
Because in the Army you get a wonderful physical training. The outdoor work builds strong bodies. Athletic sports are encouraged. Skilful doctors look after your health, keep your teeth in conditi n and protect you against disease.

7 See Foreign Lands
Uncle Sam maintains an army in many parts of the world and YOU CAN CHOOSE WHERE YOU WOULD RATHER GO. 50,000 now going to France; others to Alaska, China, Panama, Hawaii, and the Philippines.

8 Promotion and Advancement
Because there is ample opportunity for promotion with increased pay to grades of Corporal, Sergeant and in the Non-Commissioned Staff. Selected enlisted men are sent to West Point, many others are commissioned from the ranks.

9 True and Tried Friendships
Your buddies become your friends, staunch and true, fellows who stick to you through anything. You will form no finer friendships all your life than those you form in the Army. The soldier's profession is honorable and respected.

10 Liberty and Recreation
Because you have ample freedom and many special privileges. You have club rooms to rest in, play athletic games, go to shows, meet agreeable people, including lots of nice girls. Men, it's a great life!

Fifty Thousand Wanted Right Now
for France and the Rhine

If you want to see the battlefields of France and the wonderful Rhine valley, enlist TODAY, because Uncle Sam is sending 50,000 replacement troops to Europe at once. The boys are coming home, and although many are re-enlisting because they like army life and WANT TO GO BACK, there is an opportunity for YOU, if you waste no time, to "get across" and HELP KEEP THE PEACE that the great A. E. F. has helped to win. Or, if you prefer, you can enlist for service with the flag in Hawaii, Philippines, China, Alaska, or Panama.

Choose Your Branch of the Service

The United States Army is made up of thirteen distinct branches, as follows: Infantry, Cavalry, Field Artillery, Ordnance Dept., Medical Dept. (including Veterinary Corps), Coast Artillery Corps, Signal Corps, Tank Corps, Air Service (including Balloon Corps), Motor Transport Corps, Quartermaster Corps, Corps of Engineers, and Construction Division. Find out what each of these branches offers you in pay and experience, then suit your own taste. Men of skilled trades are wanted. Men who have not yet learned trades are also wanted, and selected men will be given thorough instruction in trades of their own choosing. Earn while you learn.

Vocational Training in the Army Fits You for Success

Suppose you are a young man looking about you for a trade as a stepping stone to success in life. To learn such a trade you must either work for very low wages during your apprenticeship, or else go to a trade school; and in both these cases you have to find yourself while learning. Uncle Sam gives you your living, gives you the opportunity to learn a trade and pays you real money at the same time. And when you complete your enlistment and obtain your discharge, you find yourself a trained man if you have made use of your opportunity, and your services will be in demand wherever skilled men are employed. Among these skilled trades are the following:

LAND SURVEYING	SWITCHBOARD INSTALLATION	BRICKLAYING
AUTO REPAIRING	MOTOR MECHANICS (Air or Ground)	BLACKSMITHING
TELEPHONE REPAIRING	BAKING AND COOKING	MASONRY
ROAD CONSTRUCTION	CARPENTRY	WELDING (Acetylene and Electric)
WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY	PHOTOGRAPHY	AIRPLANE MECHANICS
DRAFTING	ELECTRICAL WORK	PLUMBING
TELEGRAPHY	LITHOGRAPHY	And a great many others
STEAMFITTING

Liberty and Recreation

The Army is run like a business, with hours for work and hours of freedom. The soldier off duty writes letters, smokes, plays baseball, pool, football or most any other game he likes; goes to the movies, or theatres; calls on his girl, if he has one—in fact, does about as he likes. Being in uniform, his self-respect as well as the rules of the Service demands that he conduct himself as a soldier and a gentleman. He has no difficulty in obtaining permission to leave the camp or post at proper times, and he may obtain leave when his turn comes. He meets agreeable people, including lots of nice girls, at Y. M. C. A., K. of C., Hostess Houses, etc. He goes to dances, if he wants to. In fact, he usually has a better time than a civilian.

Call at the nearest recruiting station and ask all the questions you wish. You incur not the slightest obligation by doing so. Courteous non-commissioned officers will cheerfully tell you what you want to know and give you printed matter that you can look over at your home.

What else do you want to know? This advertisement tells only a part of the story. Get the rest today. Don't delay. Act now!

FISH PIER FIRM TO DROP ALL STRIKERS

Other Companies to Follow This Plan in Event of Walkout on July 3

In the event that the fishermen go out on strike as scheduled on July 3 the Boston Fish Pier Company has served notice that they will be dropped from the services of the company, effective on July 4. Although none of the other fish companies on the pier has taken this step it is generally believed that they will adopt it as a plan.

A total of about 250 men are employed on the pier. This includes fish haulers, weighers and carters. In addition there are the various office forces which will probably be let go if the strike is prolonged.

The strike itself appears to be certain. The fishermen are asking that the producers establish a minimum price for the fish so that a steady wage arrive on a fixed market may be assured of on each of a return in their effort to assure the men a fair wage.

Those leaders say that it is impossible for the 10c an end of the fish business is based entirely upon supply and demand and a minimum price would not serve to keep the bottom from falling out of the market if the latter was over supplied.

Name Officials for Big Bout Today, Says Rickard

Toledo O., June 26.—Tex Rickard announces that the name of the man who will referee the Willard-Dempsey fight, with the names of the two judges, who will officiate, are to be made public late today by the representatives of the National Boxing Commission.

It is now felt certain that Ollie Pecord of Toledo will handle the refereeing job, with Jack Welch of San Francisco as one of the judges, and probably Bill Brown of New York teaming with him.

TALK OF TRADE SPURS HARRY HOOPER

By NICK FLATLEY.

Just tell them that you'll trade 'em
And then they'll do the rest.
They'll hit 'em and they'll field 'em
And play with extreme zest.
— Cry of the Bleachers.

H Hooper, in the dying days of the Red Sox home stand, is celebrating all the reports and things about trading him. He's hitting, though not in the best of luck, and some of the catches he's pulling off tend to make the hair on the heads of hostile athletes as thin as their batting averages.

The greatest sun fielder the game has known, while not a bit opposed to being handed over to a club that has a chance in the flag chase, is showing the far-famed universe that he is still in the key day of his baseball career. He made a few catches yesterday that were just as impossible as the idea of seeing somebody else playing right field for the Red Sox.

Twice he skidded along the ground on his knee, something like an airplane lighting, and clutched fierce line drives. He made a couple of other flossy captures that prevented the score of the first game being worse than it was, Washington, 8 to 3.

HELPED WIN GAME.

Then he knocked off a hit in the first chapter of the ultimate pastime, and later trickled across the saucer as Strunk blazed one to centre. That was the whole story of that encounter, meaning that the Sox won, 1 to 0.

Babe Ruth, who is trying hard to work himself in shape tossed nine innings of the opener, and then made it an afternoon by going out to left in the closer. He was battered fairly hard but that didn't stop him from plugging right along. His pitching downfall came in the very first frame, when Sam Rice clouted a homer to far centre with a couple of Senators on the pillows.

Shaw pitched against the Batters, and though he wasn't the best in the world he was good enough to get along with the lead that was piled up for him.

The second tussle was a real pitchers' duel with Samuel Jones getting the better of Walter Johnson. The Sox got five hits and the aliens four. As heretofore mentioned, two of the Fenway swats came together in the first and wrecked the joint.

PITCH GREAT BALL.

Both Walter and Samuel pitched great baseball, and neither was in trouble to any great extent at any time. Both had good control and great support and accordingly furnished real baseball for an unusually big crowd.

As is getting customary to say, there may be a deal go through sometime today. The Sox owner and Manager Connie Mack of the Athletics had a couple of conferences in New York. As we understand it, the first proposition was turned down by the Boston end, while another offer is now in the well-known stage of being considered.

The Red Sox, after meeting the Senators in the final go to New York for a series with the league leaders, while the Braves come back here and entertain the other league pace makers.

For today's affair, Carl Mays was on the bill to toss out the Red Sox shrapnel, while Doc Ayres was about the only hurler Manager Griff had left, unless he decided to send Harper back.

The tilt was sort of a rubber affair, as the kids say, as the Senators and Red Sox have divided the four games already played.

"TWO AND THREE"

"PUTTING THE NEXT ONE OVER."
WITH "BUGS" BAER

THEN AND NOW.

THE difference between the bad men of the good old days and the good scrappers of these bad old times is wider than the cuffs on a sailor's trousers. They fought then. Now they fight now and then.

* * *

THEN: The Gowanus Slasher met the Yankee Buzzer while shopping for a few yards of redeye to match his thirst. The ballyhoo was over before the barkeep had a chance to sell any tickets for it. After the fight the champion continued on his way, which happened to be in the same direction the Buzzer was going. The Slasher was only two jumps behind.

* * *

NOW: The heavyweight champ and the Bronx Snorter were piped ordering one mug of Beevo with two straws.

* * *

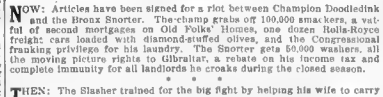
THEN: The Gowanus Slasher and the challenger will fight for the belt on October 15th unless they happen to meet accidentally before that. The fight will be for the championship of the world and a sugar-cured ham.

* * *

NOW: Articles have been signed for a riot between Champion Doodledink and the Bronx Snorter. The champ grabs off 100,000 smackers, a vault full of second mortgages on Old Folks' Homes, one dozen Rolls-Royce freight cars loaded with diamond-stuffed olives, and the Congressional franking privilege for his laundry. The Snorter gets 50,000 washers, all the moving picture rights to Gibraltar, a rebate on his income tax and complete immunity for all landlords he croaks during the closed season.

* * *

THEN: The Slasher trained for the big fight by helping his wife to carry in a scuttleful of coal up from the cellar. Generally, she does all that work herself. The Buzzer knocked out four cops who tried to interfere with his training by asking him to move off a street corner.



* * *

NOW: The champion reached the scene of the battle today convoyed by two squads of cooks, six dozen sparring valets, nine managers, a flock of osteopaths, six chiropodists and an alienist. If he gets much fatter he will have to have his belts made of copper. The Snorter had to sleep in a tent because his fifty-room suite at the Bilkmore is packed with chefs, moving picture operators and sparring tutors.

* * *

THEN: The Slasher almost broke a knuckle today trying to punch the necktie off a marble statue of Henry Clay. He is all set for tomorrow's fight. The Buzzer has a pair of blistered hands. He worked his way to the fight on a canal boat by pulling the darned scow. He said the captain had a nice, kind face.

* * *

NOW: Champ Doodledink sprained his index toe stepping into his limousine and had to call off his road work for the day. He has only four months to get into shape. The Bronx Snorter signed up for a thousand years in vaudeville with a bonus for the last two years. Both men are working on autobiographies for Dr. Eliot's Five Foot Library.

* * *

THEN: Owing to police interference the Slasher and the Yankee Buzzer will scuffle in a swamp.

* * *

NOW: The big amphitheatre at Skeeledo cost a million buttons and will seat enough guys to elect Bryan the next President.

* * *

THEN: The champion and the challenger met today for the sugar-cured ham. They fought sixty-seven rounds and then gave out rain checks for tomorrow.

* * *

THEN: The Slasher and the Yankee Buzzer are still ballyhooing. The fight ended after two hundred rounds after the men had fought the swamp dry and wet again. The Slasher won when he knocked the Buzzer stiffer than the northeast ring post. When the Buzzer came to he ate the ham. The champion didn't have any teeth left.

* * *

NOW: Doodledink and the Bronx Snorter fought one three-minute round today. Both men were on their feet at the end and the bout was called a draw.

LEONARD TO BOX JOE CURRY IN C. A. C. RING

By JACK CONWAY

Louis Leonard back home after two years in the army will have plenty of trouble for Nate Lewis, lightweight champion of Nevada-Reno. The former an amateur boxing champion of the South End has been booked to meet Curry of New Haven in a ten-round scrap at the Commercial A. C. tomorrow night.

Before he went to war Leonard was winner of the district championship, which in reality is next to the championship of the world, and a sugar-cured ham.

Curry has seen a great deal of ring action in and around Boston and has been a consistent winner in his bouts. Joe Williams of Dorchester will also be in the ring.

There will also be two other round whirls. Joe Melanson of Boston will try and dispose of Buffy of Everett in a ten-round bout. Frank Dewey says that has all the finishes of a regular and that a large crowd will be on hand to witness the exchange of blows. Be it known that Buffy and Flynn are willing mixers and may give plenty of satisfaction.

The rest of the card consists of six rounds between Charlie Ward, South End, and Young Dennis, East Boston pugs; four rounds between Jack Kelly of Taunton and Harry Riley of West End, eight rounds between Jack Devere and Mose Gordon, Chelsea.

Prior to hopping off for the Pacific coast Leonard called to say a few words about Young Bell. Some of the papers that a few of the boys have to knock the Lawrence boy out. It's kind of funny, a whole lot of healthy lightweights and welterweights to choose from and a punch on the chin of a few pounds is the Germans to put Kirby out. I'll fight him and any of those other lobsters who are on Kirby's trail.

"Such a match would put lots of fans in the Kirby mood. I'll champion will find that I can still sock with the best of them and the merry bird will have to stop him to a finish."

Kirby is getting a lot of attention from the local fans as a big drawing card. Tommy Boyle, former New England welterweight champion, who is a old timer who

Origin of the Blanket

IT was in the Winter of 1340 that the blanket was first introduced. Its inventor, Thomas Blanket, was a Flemish merchant, who had settled in Bristol and had fallen from affluence to want. He used a piece of rough, unfinished cloth as a bed cover, and these articles, to which he gave his own name, won him wealth.

Newburyport War Aviator Weds New York Girl

New York, June 26.—Charles Thurlow, of Newburyport, Mass., who served overseas in the aviation forces, today married Miss Hope Malcolm, one of the most charming debutantes of New York's younger set. The wedding was solemnized in St. James Church. J. Benham Malcolm gave his sister in marriage. Dudley Dalbey was best man. George H. Malcolm and Julian Malcolm, brothers of the bride, were ushers and were assisted by Charles Thurlow, Clement Burnhams, Benjamin Pitman and A. Gordon Dalbey. A reception at the apartment of Mrs. William C. Sheldon, the bride's aunt, at 765 East Eighty-fifth street, followed.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. George H. Malcolm of 116 East Sixty-third street and is considered one of the most accomplished women of the younger set.

The bridegroom graduated at Harvard University in 1916.

Another wedding here today of interest to Bostonians was that of Miss Pauline Estelle Hall, daughter of Christ Church, Boston, and Helen Peabody, daughter of the late Hiz Honor Malcolm E. Pitman. The ceremony was in Grace Church.

STRIKER APPEALS FROM SIX MONTHS' SENTENCE

Charged with uttering threats and with carrying a weapon, Nick Monistis of East Boston, and Peter and Thomas G. Plant shoe factory, today was sentenced on each charge to three months in the House of Correction. He appeared in the Roxbury Court before Judge Harlow B. Mayberry and was held in $1,500 for the Superior Court. According to Patrolman John B. Mone, Monistis threatened James H. Chafe of Estrella street, Jamaica Plain.

Pulling the Wool Over His Eyes

Senator Walsh's Stand on the League of Nations

Senator Walsh of Massachusetts again justifies the faith which the people of Massachusetts had in him when they selected him to represent them in the greatest deliberative body in the world.

Mr. Walsh has publicly served notice upon the partisans of the administration that he will not regard the League of Nations and the Treaty of Peace as a partisan question, and that he will not support either so long as it violates the right of self-determination —the most important of the President's fourteen points—for which we declared that we were fighting to make the world safe for democracy and upon the faith of which peoples loving freedom and hoping to get it have sacrificed their blood and treasure and upon which the armistice was finally signed.

Senator Walsh says:

This question ought not to be a partisan question, said Senator Walsh. I, for one, shall refuse to allow it to be a party question so far as I can prevent it from being one, but I want to say, as a friend of the present administration, as one who believes in its policies and its principles, that if this peace conference ends without the representatives of this government saying to the representatives of the other powers at the peace conference that when America said she believed in the principle of self-determination she believed it not only when applied to our enemies, but when applied to ourselves—I say with emphasis that we shall appear to the disinterested world to be insincere unless some representative of America at that peace conference has said:

"To show our good faith, to show our belief in this fundamental principle, the United States invites to the peace conference representatives of the Philippine Islands to present their case for self-determination and independence, and we ask Great Britain, to allow here the representatives of the Irish people to plead and present their case also."

"This will be proof to the world that we believe unequivocally in this principle. This will be proof to the world that self-determination is to be applicable to the allies as well as to their enemies, and that America stands for the right of every race of people, whatever their color, whatever their name—Filipinos, Poles, Slavs, Irish, whatever they may be—to organize a government of their own choice and to maintain an independent government if they so desire.

This evidently was an impromptu statement. We interpret it to mean that Senator Walsh will not vote for the treaty and the League of Nations until it is made clear that the right of self-determination is going to be recognized by the nations which entered under it and take advantage of its provisions and that the power, the blood and wealth of the United States is not going to be pledged to support the violation by any country of the right of self-determination and that we will not enter directly, or indirectly, into any alliance with any nation which is now or is likely in the future to violate the right of self-determination in any land or against any people.

We take it that this attitude of Senator Walsh means the purging of the treaty and League of Nations of its vicious elements or its repudiation by America, for Senator Walsh occupies a strategic position of great importance and he has the political experience and intellectual capacity to make his position decisive.

Thus it will be Senator Walsh's fortune to have done more for the nation in three months of national service than almost any senator, since the Civil War, has done in a whole lifetime.

To Brutal Pillage Is Being Added Vice of Hypocrisy

One of the leading French newspapers, the Petit Parisien, raises an imperialistic wail at the evidence which it sees of the fact that Great Britain is getting the better of France in the division of the spoils in Russia. It says:

The British are in the Archangel district, the exploited resources of which are sufficient to pay the 15,000,000,000 francs which Russia owes them without impoverishing the country. The British are occupying the Caucasus, which is the door to Persia and is rich in a variety of ways. In addition a British naval squadron has proceeded to Helsingfors, and an agreement is arranged between Finland and Great Britain, evidently aiming at Petrograd. But where is France in Russia? What is France doing to prepare for action in this country, where she has such vast interests?

When plunderers fall out over the division of the spoils, honest men at least hear the truth.

If one wanted a more complete confession of the true purposes of those who are pretending to make the world safe for democracy at Paris, where could we get one better than this lament by the French newspaper?

Every day more and more evidence accumulates to establish the fact that the only difference between the conference at Paris and the old, unregenerate, war-provoking, lustful treaties of the past is that there is MORE hypocrisy and MORE evil in the present treaty. The League of Nations crowns the evil and the folly by undertaking to guarantee to the plunderers the possession of their stolen property.

Venezuelans Profit by a Useful Lesson

In the United States 10,000 exiled Venezuelans, most of them at present living in New York City, and 20,000 in other countries of this hemisphere, all victims of political outrage at home, where 25,000 of their brethren are languishing in reeking jails, hundreds dying daily, are in a movement to bring about a new order of things in their homeland. One of them writes to us:

We now begin to realize that the main trouble in Venezuela for the past fifty years has been due to our supporting and following at a given time some selfish person and letting him rule our country for his own benefit and the benefit of a small circle immediately surrounding him.

We now purpose to make Venezuela a republic where the Constitution won't be violated by the whims of some despotic President to satisfy his own ambitions; where the individual liberty will be respected; where the liberty of speech, representation and publication won't be suppressed; where the foreign elements will be protected; where the government will be of the people, by the people, for the people.

This program of the Venezuelan Patriotic Union has a hopeful sound. Its execution would give immense satisfaction throughout the United States and set a standard which some larger nations should endeavor to attain.

More Truth Than Poetry

VACATION, 1925

By JOHN O'KEEFE

WHEN we pick a resort for the Summer,
Oh beloved, the light of my life!
Let it not be a cot on an oceanside plot,
At a wildly extravagant price.
Let us fly in a plane that's a hummer,
Far away from a spa, little wife,
And we'll lodge on a floe, where it's 80 below,
And it costs not a copper for ice!

WHAT a joy, in the region boreal,
To obtain from an Eskimo gent
Board and lodging for two in his private igloo,
Where the menus are simple, but rich!
We will lead an existence ideal,
With the merest of trifles for rent,
And we'll dabble our toes where the censors of clo'es
Never say: "Why! She hasn't a stitch!"

OR we'll soar on a great di-ri-gib-le
To a spot many miles in the air,
And, from beaches remote, we will cozily float,
With provisions aboard for a year.
And I think I may say without quibble
That no Summer hotel can compare
(Though its charges are high) with our suite in the sky
That's equipped for light housekeeping, dear!

O!! the bliss to be perfectly able
To depart with no paying of tips!
Just one simple adieu to one spot in the blue,
With a change, so to phrase it, of air;
Where a corner of Mars is your gable,
And your shade is a solar eclipse,
And the sphere music has not a symptom of jazz,
And the angels tell what you should wear!

NOW WE KNOW MORE ABOUT IT

"Before the New Zealanders did such terrific fighting in the war," said Colonel Beanfugle, "about all I could remember about New Zealand was that it was the first place to substitute concrete telegraph poles for wooden ones."

NO TROUBLE AT ALL

The mints are working overtime coining pennies, but no doubt Congress will be able to devise some new sort of a luxury tax to take care of the entire output.

What Was Their Hurry?

The correspondents who rushed over to Paris December First for fear they wouldn't get there before peace was signed, have most of them written their reminiscences and died.

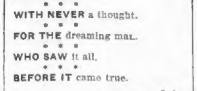
Ye TOWN GOSSIP

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

By K. C. B.

ATLANTIC CITY, June 23.

ONE YEAR ago.
HE DREW on paper.
WHAT WAS to be.
THE VERY grand lobby.
OF THE new Ambassador.
AND ON the paper.
HE PLACED the chairs.
AND HE laid the rugs.
AND HE hung the lights.
AND WHERE there was color.
HE COLORED it.
AND WHERE there was shade.
HE SHADED it.
AND HAVING it done.
HE VISIONED it.
AS IT would be.
AND HE waited then.
WHILE WALLS were built.
AND FLOORS were laid.
AND THE house was reared.
AND CLEANERS came.
AND TOILED by night.
AND WENT away.
AND I stood with him.
JUST A day ago.
WHEN THE last were gone.
AND THE pillars were there.
AND THE bright tiled floor.
AND THE glare of the sun.
THAT CAME up from the sea.
AND ALL was bare.
AND HE clapped his hands.
AND WORKMEN came.
AND A rug was laid.
AND MORE rugs came.
AND THE glare was gone.
AND HE clapped again.
AND FROM out of his dream.
GREAT COUCHES came.
AND THERE came arm chairs.
AND STANDS were brought.
AND GREEN things came.
AND BLOOMING plants.
AND THE last was brought.
AND FROM out in the west.
THE SUN sent back.
ITS GOLDEN rays.
AND TWILIGHT came.
AND A switch was pressed.
AND THE lights came on.
AND I stood with him.
AS I had stood.
AND HIS dream was gone.
AND THE leaves he held.
WHERE HE'D put his dream.
WERE FOLDED away.
AND HIS work was through.
AND NOW as I write,
HE HAS gone away.
TO DREAM new dreams.
AND THE years will go.
AND THE crowds will come.
AND TIRED folks.
WILL REST wearied limbs.
IN HIS dreamland.
WITH NEVER a thought.
FOR THE dreaming man.
WHO SAW it all,
BEFORE IT came true.



I THANK you.

DOES MAN VANQUISH WOMAN IN DRESS?

Here's a Mere Man Who Ventures to Say So!

A NEW DANIEL, come to judgment!

Just listen, girls, to this—listen, ladies all!

A mere man—one Charles Gray Shaw, Ph. D., Professor of Philosophy, of New York University—comes forward with the statement that men have better taste in dress than women!

Shall he so speak and live?

Nay, curb your ire—the learned gentleman hath certain things to say in your behalf also; and truth to tell, he makes out man the vainer of the two.

What do you think about it? Would a man take his own life simply because some girl had criticised his clothes? Shaw—Charles Gray, of the Shavian name—believes Gorky is right in asserting that men takes his pulchritude and its adornment so seriously that there is such a thing as sartorial suicide. "Love me, love my togs," he says in the male clothes attitude.

But that does not lessen the strenuosity of his attack upon women's dress. And he does not waver on his original statement that there is some sense and reason in man's mode of dress, but none at all in women's. Man uses his brain in planning his attire, woman loses hers, he says; but he concludes:

"It was by Act of Congress that Dr. Mary Walker was permitted to dress as a man. The Congress which tries to legislate that women shall dress as a woman will have on its hands a worse tangle than that which confronted those sages who months ago sat down and tried to clothe Europe in its right mind."

This interesting dissertation will be found in full in the Magazine Section of the Boston Sunday Advertiser, and it is very well worth reading.

Did you know—

That the world hoists an umbrella every so often—quite at random—and that cool spells thereupon follow on Earth? There was even a year in the memory of the oldest inhabitant, when snow fell every month in the year, and it is known as "the year without a Summer." This happens whenever a volcano "blows off its head"; and though that may seem remote enough, the fact is that the recent eruption of the Javan volcano Kalut, which cost the lives of 50,000 people, will very likely cause a much cooler Summer right here in these U. S. A. than we otherwise would have. Such an eruption sends a cloud of dust miles into the sky and girdling the globe, which acts like an umbrella to the earth, and keeps off the sun's rays. Eruptions of that kind have been known to affect the weather very seriously for two or three years at a time. Rene Bache, the famous government expert, contributes a fascinating scientific article on this subject next Sunday.

"The modern Juliet"—that is what Miss Drexel, who eloped with Captain Barett recently, might be called; for she arranged all the details of the elopement, and carried off her "Romeo" in her own high-powered car—herself at the steering wheel!

Perhaps you did not know that "Bab, the sub-deb.", of Mary Roberts Rinehart's famous story, is a real girl. She is—she was Mary Doran, daughter of George H. Doran, the publisher; and she is now the very charming daughter-in-law of Mrs. Rinehart herself, bride of her son Stanley Rinehart, Jr. And the one thing that worries the new Mrs. Rinehart is—"What will mamma-in-law write about me, next!"

Another chapter in that thriller of thrillers, "The Red Lady," by Katherine Newlin Burt.

"The Other Man," in full colors, by Howard Chandler Christy, is the very lovely cover of the Magazine Section.

"Now there won't be any pretzels!" Just a little Fourth of July celebration of Father's. But as "Father" says, he's "always up in the air." He is this time, sure!

There Is Work Enough
Government Is Sleepy
U. S. Actors' Revenge
$5,000,000 for Ireland

—By Arthur Brisbane—

(Copyright, 1919.)

There may be shortage of employment, due to timidity of enterprise and stupidity or indifference of government, but there will never be shortage of work in the United States. Mr. Gompers and his associates are discussing a reduction of the working week to five days because employment is falling off.

It should not fall off and need not. Half the energy needed to put through a five-day week would supply work for all those that want it.

There is not enough food produced. There are not enough automobiles to supply the demand. Try to buy one and find out. There are not houses or flats enough, and landlords are gaily profiteering in consequence. The railroads need rebuilding and re-equipment; canals and roads are needed. The United States government alone could keep all available labor busy on needed improvements. And that would happen if the government could take as much interest in useful work as in destructive war. If we had the money in war, we have it now.

It is a crime to suggest keeping all workers idle one-sixth of the time when all the workers in the country could not possibly do the work that calls for them.

If the plan is to cut the working week down to five days, that is one thing. But, if the workers would bring pressure to bear on the government, there would be no lack of work.

American moving pictures are crowding the British article off the stage, and free trade England, with her usual presence of mind, plans to shut out the American films. The domination of American movies in England is a sort of revenge for the poor American actor.

Always barring an occasional Sothern he was passed by in favor of an Englishman. The American actor could not be quite dead and emotionless enough to go well with a "dress suit" and a society part.

Once nations in need of leaders chose always soldiers. We took George Washington and later Grant. Rome took Caesar, France Napoleon, or rather he took France. Now it is otherwise. Valera, President of the Irish republic, was professor, of mathematics in Dublin. Paderewski moved from grand piano to leadership in Poland; Ebert, harness maker, succeeded the war lord in Germany. We have a professor teaching Europe fourteen points and more.

The Irish President would like to borrow five million dollars here. He will find it difficult and that fact ought to comfort the French, who think they are bound to be menaced constantly by Germany.

We once had for an only enemy England. All our statesmen supposed that after the first war with her others must come. Sure enough 1812 did follow 1776. But such things die out and only recently in Washington, D. C., if you threw a brick anywhere near the United States Treasury you would hit an Englishman hurrying away with a billion or two just borrowed. Bah, four got four or five billions as easily as Japan beat China. And Valera, speaking for the Irish who have millions of their blood here, will find it hard to get five million where Balfour got one thousand times as much.

Belgium comes out ahead in after-the-war finances and that will please everybody outside of Germany and Austria. Belgium gets the first five hundred million dollars from Germany. Germany pays in bonds, and, needless to say, this country will step forward and take over the German bonds given to Belgium.

Bartering Under Difficulties

No European has ever been able to meet in their own dwelling-places the Kukukuhus, a shy yet ferocious tribe of New Guinea. Other tribes of the country, while they have a great fear of the Kukukuhus, manage to do a bartering trade with them. They bring salt, earthenware, dried fish, etc., and deposit them in a certain indicated place. They then retire for a few hours, being notified to do so by a curious cry from the distance. The mountain dwellers then descend to view the goods offered for exchange. If they want them they put down other goods, such as skins, feathers, and other jungle produce, next to those articles wanted by them. Then they retire in turn, and when the way seems clear the coast dwellers approach again. If the latter are satisfied with what is offered in exchange they take the goods put down by the mountain people and go away; if not satisfied they retire with empty hands.
